BELIEVE PARALYSIS EPIDEMIC PAST PEAK

HEALTH CHIEF SAYS GRADUAL DECREASE NOTED IN DISEASE

Think Cool Weather Will Help Fight—Conference Held

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 3.—Belief that Ohio's epidemic of infantile paralysis has passed its "peak" and is now subsiding was voiced today by Dr. C. P. Robbins, chief of the division of communicable diseases, state health department.

Dr. Robbins, who has been directing the statewide campaign seeking to control the ravages of this dread disease, expressed the opinion that the present epidemic in the Buckeye state has been gradually decreasing since August 29.

Additional hope that this epidemic may disappear from Ohio within the next few weeks is found in the declaration of Dr. Wade H. Frost, of the U. S. Public Health Bureau, Washington, D. C., that a study of the history of infantile paralysis epidemics discloses that 80 per cent of the cases occur between June and October and that the epidemics disappear when cold weather arrives.

Decision to leave the question of postponing the opening of public schools to the discretion of local health and school boards was reached at a conference held at the offices of Dr. John E. Monger, state health director, here late Friday.

Conferees included Drs. Monger, Robbins and Frost and county health commissioners, and school physicians from about forty counties throughout the state in which cases of infantile paralysis either have been reported or are expected to develop.

Announcement was made today that Dr. Monger expects to call a conference soon of physicians, who are experts in the treatment of children's diseases, and surgeons, who have had wide experience in performing surgical operations on deformed and crippled children. The purpose of the proposed conference, it was announced, is to formulate a standardized method of "after-treatment" for children who recover from the serious phase of infantile paralysis, but are left crippled, or deformed, in some form.

Dr. Robbins today expressed belief that the opening of the public schools will be postponed at least two weeks in all districts where the infantile paralysis epidemic is severe. In districts where there are a few cases, he said, will call upon local physicians to volunteer in the work of inspecting the children.

No restrictions will be placed upon children in districts where no cases of infantile paralysis have been noted. Dr. Robbins stated. Overriding the recommendation of Dr. H. M. Platter, local school physician, that the Columbus public schools be opened on schedule time, next Tuesday, the Columbus Board of Education late Friday unanimously voted to postpone opening of the schools here until September 19, thus giving the children an additional two weeks' vacation.

Platter expressed belief that danger of contagion is less when the children are in school than when playing in public places. The school board contended that the act of postponing the opening of the schools here constituted "an abundance of caution against the spread of infantile paralysis."

BRAZIL UNABLE TO LOCATE REDFERN

RIO DE JANEIRO, Sept. 3.—Efforts of government authorities to find some trace of Paul Redfern, missing Georgia-to-Brazil solo flier, have so far failed.

Search for the aviator is being continued, but hope that the flier is still alive is waning hourly. A careful check by radio, and a thorough search of the country over which Redfern would have passed on his way to this city, have uncovered no clues as to the flier's fate or whereabouts.

CLEVELAND MOVIE WORKERS MAY STRIKE

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 3.—Movie employees in this city may strike Sept. 11, when a wage agreement with local theaters expires, since the union here is demanding a 12 per cent pay increase. Manus McCafferty, business agent of the union, said the situation here had no connection with the strike of moving picture theater employees in Chicago.

Claims World Flyer

Declaring that she married William S. Brock, world flight aviator, at Martinsville, Ill., in 1916, Mrs. Corinne Smith Brock, of Dayton, O., above, claims that although she has been separated from the flier six years she does not know of any divorce proceedings. Since the world flight began she says she learned of Brock's marriage in Chicago in 1926. Mrs. William S. Brock, of Detroit, has declared in a phone call to the Mrs. Brock at Dayton, that she knows nothing of any first marriage or divorce by Brock.

IDENTIFY CROSSING VICTIM AS FOREST LUG, CLARK COUNTY

Brother Completes Identification—Funeral Sunday

Identification of the younger of two men killed when their auto was wrecked by east-bound Baltimore and Ohio passenger train No. 67 at the Cottonville Road crossing at the edge of Jamestown Friday morning, as Forest Lug, 30, was completed Friday night.

The identification was established by a brother, Harry Lug, North Hampton, Clark County, who came to Jamestown with a brother-in-law and viewed the body at the F. E. Burr undertaking establishment.

Lug was said to have lived with Sanford Sparrow, 68, R. No. 8, Springfield, the second man killed in the crash, and the two had been engaged in business together.

Lug was single and his parents are dead. He is survived by two brothers, one of whom lives in Detroit, and two sisters, one at present a patient in a Springfield hospital. The brother living in Detroit had intended to come to North Hampton, Labor Day, to spend the holiday with his brother, Harry, and he is expected to arrive in time to attend funeral services.

Funeral services for Lug have been set for Sunday at 2 o'clock at the Burr funeral parlors, with interment in Clifton Cemetery. Harry Lug expected to return to Jamestown Saturday to complete the arrangements.

Lug's identity could not be established Friday until a number of hours after the accident. Partial identification was made earlier in the day by Forest Gordon, Jamestown, who, after viewing the body, was certain he recognized the man as being named Forest Lug, of whom he had purchased a Ford roadster and who had promised to deliver the car Friday morning, but did not appear.

It developed later Friday that the machine in which the two men were riding, was a Ford roadster, instead of a touring car, although the license number had been issued for a Ford touring car. The machine was so badly wrecked, it could not be determined for a time whether it was a roadster or touring car.

"WE" TAKE AIR

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Sept. 3.—The famous "we" took off from the air mail field here today bound for Salt Lake City, Utah, where Col. Chas. A. Lindbergh and his "Spirit of St. Louis" are scheduled to arrive at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

WEATHER THREATENS.

CARIBOU, ME., Sept. 3.—Unsettled weather conditions today threatened to delay the start of Capt. Terry Tully and Lieut. James Metcalf on their interrupted flight from London, Ontario, to London, England.

ST. RAPHAEL PLANE SIGHTED WEDNESDAY

SHIP APPARENTLY KEPT ON SCHEDULE FOR PART OF TRIP

Three Flyers Placed
Among Missing Of
Ocean Pilots

OTTAWA, Ont., Sept. 3.—The airplane St. Raphael and its three daring occupants, dropped today into the limbo of the missing.

Despite reports from two trans-Atlantic vessels that the light of an airplane had been sighted overhead far out at sea Wednesday night, no further word came today which might definitely indicate the fate of Captain Leslie Hamilton, Lieut. Col. F. F. Minchin and the Princess Lowenstein-Wertheim, who left Upavon, England, early Wednesday morning in an attempt to fly across the ocean.

If the reports that a plane's beacon was seen are authentic, it would appear that the St. Raphael kept its scheduled during the first half of its flight across the ocean, then flew far off its course. What is believed to have been the last trace of the missing plane was seen several hundred miles southeast of New York City. A point far away from the course the aviators intended to fly to Ottawa.

Canadian officials searching for the plane have been informed by the British air ministry that a light was seen midway across the Atlantic on Wednesday night by the German-American oil tanker Josiah Macy. The spot where the glow was seen in the sky was in latitude 53.15 and longitude 29.45, indicating that the St. Raphael had safely negotiated the first half of its trip across the Atlantic. Word of sighting the plane's light was contained in a wireless message picked up from the Josiah Macy by the Irish Broadcasting Company.

The other message from Halifax, stated that a Dutch steamship had seen the light of a plane at 6 a. m. G. M. T. Wednesday (1 a. m. New York Daylight Time) at latitude 53.28 north and longitude 64.3 west, a point 420 miles southeast of New York City, and far off the plane's course.

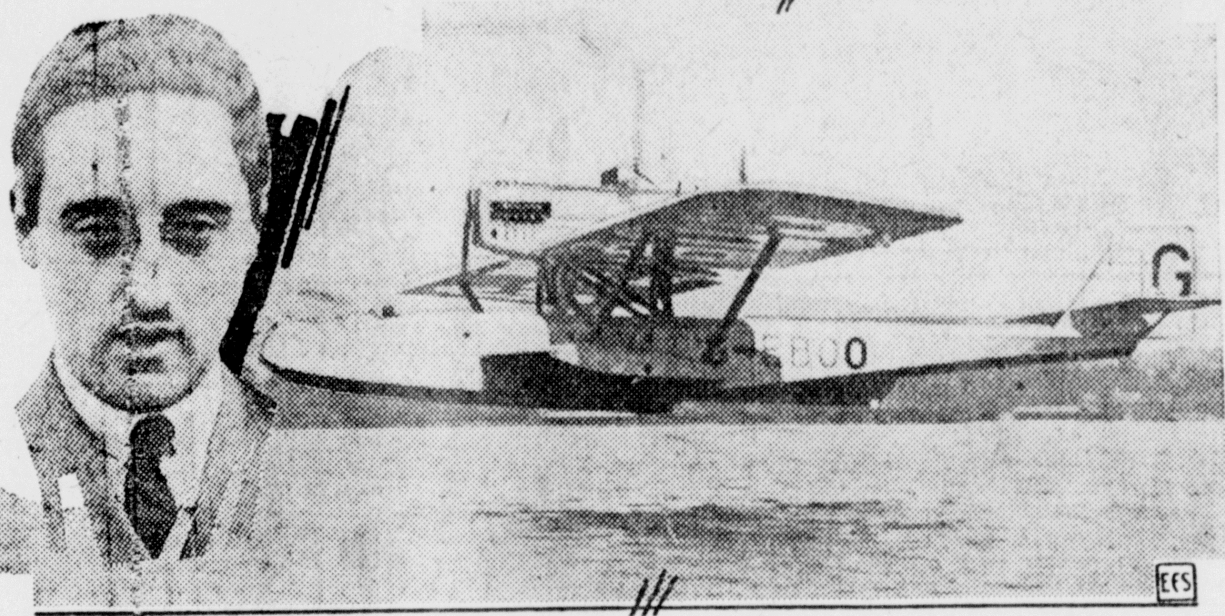

Meanwhile, with hopes of the fliers being found alive decreasing hourly, every agency at the command of Canada, was being pressed in the search for the fliers. All through the night, radio stations throughout the dominion picked up broadcasts seeking to pick up some word of the princess and her companions, but without success.

The hope still persists that the fliers may have been able to make a safe landing in some isolated spot in Canada or Newfoundland, and that their emergency rations will keep them alive for several days. Or, on the other hand, if at sea, the hope is held out that the collapsible rubber lifeboat carried by the fliers will keep them afloat until rescued by some ship.

Mrs. Hamilton, wife of the St. Raphael's pilot, has not given up hope for the safety of her husband and his two companions. She made the following statement to International News Service:

"I still have the highest hope. There is really so little one can say when everybody brings such gloomy messages, yet I am sure that Leslie will be found. I have done nothing but wait since early Thursday, and it is hard for me to see things properly.

ARREST THREE SUSPECTS AFTER PRISONERS ATTEMPT ESCAPE CHARGE HOME HEADS PUNISHED BOYS

Guard Slain When Convicts At Brick Plant Attempt
Escape From Office Of Dentist—One
Prisoner Wounded

NEW LEXINGTON, O., Sept. 3.—Two women and three men, suspected of being accomplices in the attempted escape of two penitentiary prisoners Thursday are under arrest here today, and will be charged with first degree murder, according to County Prosecutor Dugan.

The slain man is Grant Weakley, a guard who was shot without warning as Fred Kellogg, Toledo, and Pat Riley, Cincinnati, dashed to short-lived liberty.

Those under arrest here registered as Mrs. Ida Jean Kellogg, Detroit, wife of Fred Kellogg; George Zens, Detroit; Beaumont Sowers, Cincinnati, and Mr. and Mrs. James Waters, Newark.

The five were arrested last night by sheriff's deputies after an automobile race in which Sheriff McNabb forced the fugitives' car into a ditch near Newark.

Kellogg was shot three times before his capture and is reported in a serious condition. Riley was captured a mile from the scene of the shooting. All of the convicts have been returned to the penitentiary at Columbus.

Guard Weakley was killed while the four convicts were receiving dental treatment in a physician's office here. Kellogg and Riley, it is thought, obtained guns which had been "planted" in the dentist's office, and shot Weakley as he reached for his weapon. Two of the men captured Thursday night, it is thought, hid the guns in the dentist's office, while Mrs. Kellogg and a woman companion, visited Kellogg at the Junction City brick plant branch of the penitentiary and informed her husband of the cache.

After Weakley fell, Kellogg and Riley ran into the street firing wildly. Kellogg was dropped soon after by a second deputy guard, while Riley was taken some distance away.

ROUND WORLD FLYERS TAKE OFF FROM BAGDAD FOR PERSIAN STOP

BAGDAD, Sept. 3.—The round-the-world fliers, Edward M. Schlee and William S. Brock, hopped off here at 7 o'clock this morning for Bender Abbas, Persia, on the fifth lap of the epoch-making flight.

Schlee and Brock arrived here at 9:30 last night from Constantinople, where they had been detained twenty-four hours by difficulty in obtaining passports and permission to fly over Turkish territory.

Bender Abbas is eighty-eight miles from here. Despite the twenty-four hour delay, Brock and Schlee are well in advance of previous speed attempts to encircle the globe.

The flight from Constantinople to Bagdad required fourteen hours. A report was received here that the Pride of Detroit flew over Basra at 10 o'clock. Basra is in the Tigris valley, sixty miles from the Persian Gulf.

"PROXY BRIDE" IS ADMITTED TO U. S.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—Senator Flora Sargio, Spanish "proxy bride" of Max Muniz, of Martins Ferry, O., is to be admitted to the United States, government authorities decided today. She was held at Ellis Island for possible deportation.

Immigration officials said she could be admitted as a non-quota immigrant if the state department was willing to place her on its list. The state department agreed, and the senatoria will be permitted to join her proxy husband.

Senatoria Sargio, the bride, arrived at Ellis Island yesterday with a permit to enter the country as the wife of Muniz, but investigation developed that she wedded Muniz in Spain only "by proxy," Muniz's father taking his son's place at the altar. Muniz who has a home and "money in the bank" at Martins Ferry was in this country at the time of the "wedding" which was held for the purpose of securing entrance papers for the bride.

SHIPS ASKED TO SEARCH FOR PLANE

BOSTON, Sept. 3.—All ships within a 1,000-mile radius of the New England coast were asked by the Navy Department today to be on the lookout for the missing British airplane St. Raphael.

Messages of instruction went out from the high-powered federal radio stations at Boston navy yard, Newport, R. I., torpedo station and the big naval radio plant at Bar Harbor, Me.

"British air ministry calculation tends to believe that St. Raphael was blown south of intended course with possible landing in ocean south or east of Maine coast," said the advices. "Request all American ships in these waters be informed and be on the lookout."

A heavy fog was reported off the Atlantic seaboard today. The steamship Boston from New York with 700 passengers was forced to anchor outside for five hours.

MILLIONAIRE BUYS PASSAGE ON PLANE ON WESTWARD JUMP

British Flyer And Companions Expect To Stop At Azores—Will Test Feasibility Of Trans-Atlantic Passenger Service.

PLYMOUTH, England, Sept. 3.—With a mysterious millionaire Canadian as a passenger, Captain Frank J. Courtney hopped off from here at 6:26 o'clock this morning in his Dornier-Napier biplane "Whale" in a new attempt to conquer the Atlantic ocean by air.

Besides the mysterious passenger, whose identity was not disclosed and who was reported to have paid $7,500 for the privilege of making the flight, Courtney was accompanied by R. J. Little, engineer and F. W. Downer, navigator.

It was reported here today that Courtney's mysterious passenger is E. B. Homer, of the Bank of Montreal, Canada.

The amphibian plane, heavily loaded with 750 gallons of gasoline, made a perfect takeoff. In less than two minutes after the moors of the giant land and water plane had begun to roar, the three intrepid aviators and their wealthy passenger were out of sight.

Before starting, Courtney turned to the little group which gathered to see him off and said: "I am full of optimism. I am sure we'll do the job." It was thought probable here that Courtney would stop at Horta, the Azores, to refuel his plane.

Captain Courtney brought his plane here yesterday from the Calshot aerodrome, where his start had been deferred six times by adverse weather conditions or trouble with his plane.

Only a few persons besides army mechanics witnessed the start of the hazardous adventure. Mrs. Courtney accompanied her husband in a launch to the spot where the "Whale" was moored, and kissed him good-bye as he stepped into the cockpit.

Courtney's early start came as a surprise, as it was expected he intended to wait until later in the day before taking off. The flier arrived at the naval base at 6 o'clock, and finding the weather in every way favorable, decided to start.

BIBLE THOUGHT

GOD TESTIMONY—I will say of the Lord, He is my refuge and my fortress: my God; in Him will I trust. Psalm 91:2.

JUDGE GARY'S ADVICE

The advice of Judge Gary to members of his family in entrusting to them his fortune, is good advice for everybody. He said, in essence:

"Do not sign notes or make personal loans; do not live beyond your means; ignore glib talk and look for good security; if in doubt trust your judgment rather than another's advice."

This plain, homely admonition recalls the sage counsels of Poor Richard, which have never been bettered. Few masters of American industry have exemplified this preachment as did Judge Gary. His words express the simplicity and sturdiness of his character. They are the most precious bequest of his last will and testament.

In a speech a few years ago Gary said:

"Ignorance breeds crime, cruelty, dishonesty, disease and poverty. It results in suffering, decay, destruction and obliteration. Everything that is done or said in favor of better and still better education is a step toward God and country and humanity. . . . The nation that is best educated will be safest."

Here is a condensation of the experience of a long and remarkable life. To walk humbly, to live sanely, to promote the general enlightenment, was his simple formula for the individual and the nation.

WAITING TO BE SEEN

Two years ago Fort Erie, on the Canadian side of the Niagara frontier, was a sleepy little hamlet. Then some patriots on both sides of the river conceived the idea of bridging the Niagara river at Fort Erie to "commemorate the hundred years of peace between Canada and the United States."

Before the bridge was completed and dedicated by the Prince of Wales and Vice President Davis, Fort Erie had grown to a bustling town and the center of a vast new suburban territory which eventually will consolidate to make the "City of Fort Erie."

The moral is not for real estate promoters alone.

For Erie and the farm lands surrounding it have always been there. What it is now it could have been years ago. The opportunity waited years for somebody to grasp it.

Every community in the United States has a "Fort Erie" and perhaps several of them. There are many of them right here waiting for someone with foresight and enterprise to recognize them.

While this city has some great industrial and business establishments there are opportunities here for still others. These splendid possibilities await those who can see them and have the genius to prosecute them to success. There are factories and stores and professional enterprises, drifting along year after year, with tremendous opportunities but no one in their organizations with the one necessary "great idea," the spark that is needed to set it off.

Trifles may make perfection, but trifling does not.

The kings can do no wrong. The dictators won't let them.

SOMETHING WRONG

There are more things wrong with our so-called civilization than we know how to fix. A West Virginia mother confesses she killed her baby because she "didn't have the money to provide for her." There are places where she could have found help but she didn't know about them. Here the two great curses of mankind—poverty and ignorance—were combined.

BIG FIGURES

Science forces us to think in big figures. A searchlight, shown at the University of Virginia, has a beam of 1,385,000,000 candle power. An observer on Mars, with a powerful telescope, would know when this light was turned on. It will blister the skin 1,000 feet away. It will be used for tests to show these peed of light.

Fortunately for the rest of us there are men capable of dealing in big figures not attached to dollar marks.

EDISON CHEERS MILLIONS

The great money givers are not alone those who bring pleasure to folks. Edison celebrates the fiftieth anniversary of his invention of the phonograph. Think of the millions he has cheered by this invention. Too bad the jazz makers of late have made such bad use of it. That is not Edison's fault.

THE SILVER LINING

I've turned some troubles inside out. With every benefit of doubt. But blest, from aught that I could see. If they looked silver-lined to me!

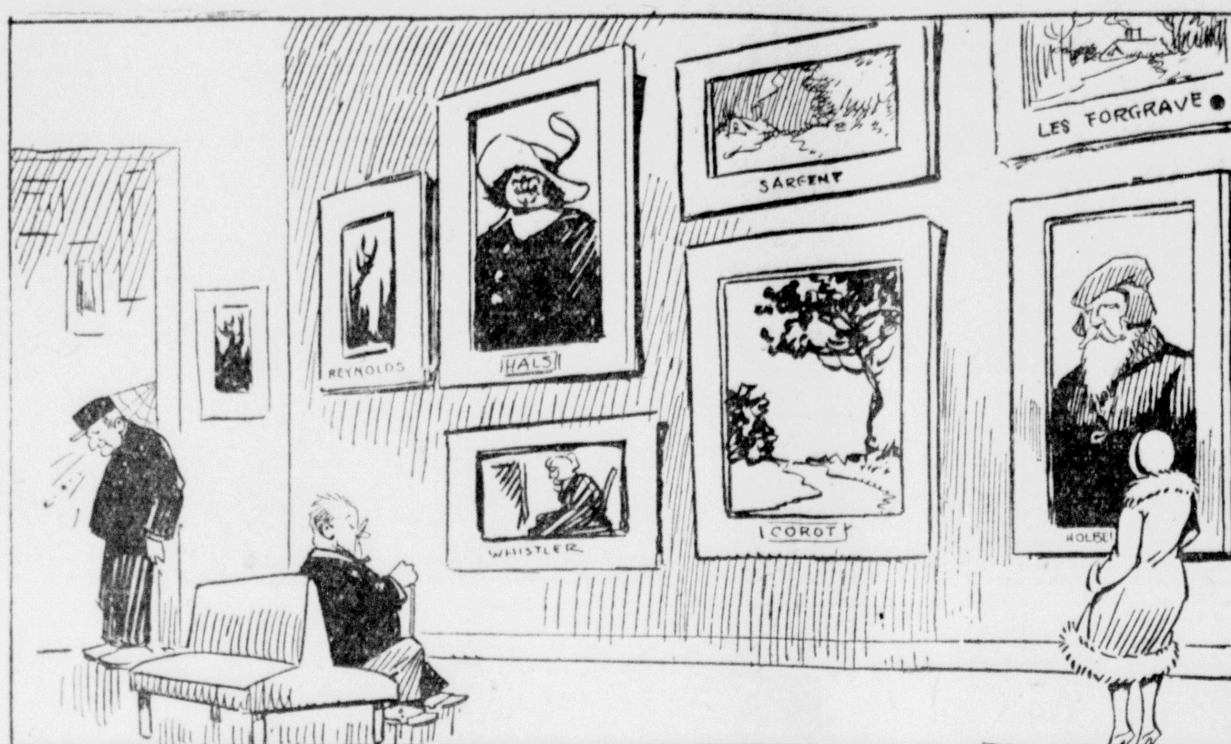

Some roads have ended with a wall. With no way out, or on, or at all. While some peculiar paths I've found Just kept on going 'round and 'round!

A real determined optimist On silver linings will insist. It may be there—they guarantee it— But it takes rosy "specs" to see it!

It's far more bother than it's worth To drag a silver cloud to earth. To veil a trouble and to grace it. It's more courageous just to face it!

MENU HINT

Use fresh fruits and vegetables as much as possible in your menus. While it is thought that the healthful vitamins are not lost in the cooking process in most of these products, it is generally admitted that they are best eaten raw.

Fresh berries and fruit may be added to various milk puddings. In the menu following the tapioca could be served with any of the fresh berries in season, oranges, bananas, etc., as well as with peaches. I am enclosing a brain cooky recipe with today's recipes.

Green Beans Boiled with Bacon
Potatoes Boiled with Beans
Hot Buttered Beets
Whole Wheat Bread
Peach Tapioca Tea

TODAY'S RECIPES

Peach Tapioca—Scald a quart of milk in double boiler. Add half cup minute tapioca, same amount of sugar, one-fourth teaspoon salt, and cook fifteen minutes, stirring frequently. Pour small amount slowly over two slightly-beaten egg yolks, stirring vigorously. Return to boiler and cook until thick as custard. Remove. Add flavoring to taste. Fold in stiffly-beaten egg whites. Chill. When cold pour over peeled, sliced and sweetened peaches.

Bran Cookies—Three-fourths cup shortening, half cup brown sugar, one cup molasses, one egg, half cup sour milk, one teaspoon cinnamon, three-fourths teaspoon salt, one teaspoon soda, one cup raisins, three-fourths teaspoon ginger, two teaspoonfuls baking powder, one and one-half cups whole wheat flour, one cup white flour, one-half cup bran.

Cream shortening and sugar. Add molasses, egg, well-beaten; sour milk and raisins, beating thoroughly. Add dry ingredients. Roll, adding white flour. Bake ten minutes in hot oven.

Caviare—This is one of the most prized relishes, and is expensive. It is the roe of sturgeon, salted, and has a strong flavor. The best caviare comes from Russia. It is marketed canned, and is served as an appetizer, ice cold, with wedges of lemon, a dish of grated onion, and toast fingers or points.

THREE-MINUTE MAYONNAISE

(Mrs. Mary Morton's Daily Tested Recipe.)

One whole egg, three table-spoons lemon juice or vinegar (or half of each), one-half teaspoon salt, one-half teaspoon mustard, one and one-half teaspoon sugar, one-eighth teaspoon paprika, one and one-half cups salad oil. Put egg, seasoning, one tablespoon of oil in a bowl and beat. Add remaining oil, one-fourth cup at a time, beating vigorously. Remaining acid is added, a little at a time, during the mixing.

APPROPRIATE FUND FOR ROAD REPAIRS

County Commissioners have authorized the appropriation of $6,000 as the county's share of the estimated cost of repairing and maintaining Inter-county Highway No. 473, near Bowersville, the work to be undertaken by the state highway department.

The estimated cost of the work is $12,000, but this county will only be required to pay one-half of the expense.

It is planned to grade section E from Bowersville to the Clinton County line and maintain section D from Jamestown to Bowersville by opening ditches and adding material to the surface as it is needed.

WHY NO ACCOUNT FOLKS ENJOY FUNERALS.

The only time in my life that I was ever sick in bed I was visited by a neighbor who irritated me almost beyond polite endurance. He kept telling me how sorry he was for me, and how well he was feeling.

The longer he talked the more he had to say about his own excellent health. Though he didn't realize exactly why, he got much unconscious pleasure from seeing somebody confined to bed, because it gave him a comfortable sense of superiority.

The chances are that many well-meaning persons who persistently call and annoy the bedridden get more pleasure out of such attention than they would be willing to admit. I wonder if there isn't a similar explanation for the mania some folks have for attending funerals. Don't they enjoy a funeral because of their unconscious feeling of superiority to the corpse?

I once heard a smart business man say: "If you are called upon to take an executive position with a badly demoralized organization, and quick action is necessary, discharge every dissatisfied employee and you will get rid of 75 per cent of the incompetents and 90 per cent of the trouble-makers. Every employee who is dissatisfied is not necessarily an incompetent or trouble-maker, but nearly every incompetent or trouble-maker is dissatisfied."

A statistical study shows that 88 out of every 100 men in this country have an income of less than $2,000 a year. Those who earn $10,000 a year are so rare as to be almost supermen—about one-tenth of one per cent.

However, $2,000 a year isn't so bad if one doesn't live in a large city where he is compelled to pay a big rent for the luxury of living near many other people. In a small place, $2,000 a year may bring every reasonable comfort.

But how many who earn $10,000 in a great city could earn even $2,000 in a village?

Somehow, it appears that one must come nearer to delivering value in a small place than in a big one.

Cities are centers of many useless activities. Every year I notice an increase in the number of persons in cities who prosper by working at something unnecessary. Think of all the liveried apartment-house door men, eyebrow-pluckers and their assistants, washroom brush boys—to say nothing of high-salaried publicity agents, assistant vice presidents, and such. What chance would any of these have in a little village or on a farm?

The Theater

An effort to enjoin "Revelry," drama now appearing at the Garrick Theater, Philadelphia, failed Friday when the court refused the application of Bernard R. Cohen, attorney, who charged the play "flaunts and ridicules the federal government."

A hearing on his action to close the play will be allowed Tuesday. "Revelry" is based on the novel by Samuel Hopkins Adams which created so much comment a few months ago because it pictured graft and dissipation in national affairs at Washington and was supposed to be drawn as a parallel of a recent administration.

The story was adapted for the stage by Maurine Watkins, the young author of "Chicago," another play that caused considerable comment last winter.

Amelia Bingham, 58, a star of the American melodramatic stage at the turn of the century, died at her home in New York Thursday evening following an eight months' invalidism. She was born at Hicksville, Ohio, and educated at Ohio Wesleyan University, Delaware. Mrs. Bingham was the widow of Lloyd M. Bingham, with whom she claimed to have been communicating recently through spiritualistic mediums. She was writing her memoirs at the time of her death.

A sad, young-old man has appeared again in Hollywood. He is Charles Spencer Chaplin, one-time uproariously funny clown, now quiet, retiring, silent. Hollywood was startled at the change in Charley, evidently resulting from the litigation over domestic difficulties with his wife. He returned to Hollywood to finish "The Circus," interrupted by the court proceedings.

Ruth Lee Taylor, a twenty-year-old comedienne, has been chosen for the lead in the screen version of "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes," the story of Anita Loos, who, by the way got her first fame as a scenario writer in Hollywood. Miss Taylor was selected for the part after much searching. She is a native of Grand Rapids, Mich., but was educated in Portland, Ore., from where she came to the land of the cinema.

Milton Sills will play opposite his wife in her return to the screen after a long absence.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.

Spider Bites

Mrs. N.—To treat the bite of a poisonous spider or the sting of a scorpion, Dr. Costa advises tying a ligature above the bitten point, make a cross incision over the bite to favor bleeding, and paint the wound with pure carbolio acid or some other strong antiseptic. (The ligature should be loosened slowly after the symptoms have disappeared.) Naturally this is a physician's work, but if you were in a position where you could not get a physician, you might have to make a little try at it yourself. Sterilize a knife by passing it through a flame three or four times.

Your experience is having a paralytic of the arm and leg after a painful bite from some insect would indicate that it must have been a very poisonous one. There is a suspicion that "Infantile" Paralysis may be transmitted at times by some insect, but the paralysis doesn't usually appear so suddenly. At your age (68) there is the possibility that you had a slight apoplectic stroke which may not have been caused by the bite but may have come at the same time.

Yes, people do fully recover from slight apoplectic strokes. (I read that Pasteur had a stroke 25 years before he died.)

I suggest you go to a doctor who specializes in physiotherapy methods, and have massage, electrotherapy and other physical measures used on your arm and leg.

Hairy Legs
In these days of thin, light hose, I can appreciate your distress, B., at having so much dark hair on your legs.

There is no reason why you should not use a depilatory occasionally on the parts. That would be better than the shaving. Of course, the only real cure for superfluous hair is the electric needle.

Most of the standard depilatories on the market are dependable. Epilating wax is the most satisfactory method of handling superfluous hair on the face, if one can't have the electric needle.

We have an article on the subject which gives a formula for an epilating wax recommended by Pusey, one of the leading skin specialists. Send a fully self-addressed stamped envelope with your request.

Strong Emotions
"I have heard the statement that the strong emotions—anger, fear, worry, etc., have an effect on the system. Will you tell me how continual anger, scolding, etc., will affect the health?"

Most certainly strong emotions profoundly affect the mental and physical life of the individual. M. Strong emotions stimulate the nervous system which controls the internal organs including the ductless glands with their powerful chemical secretions. The blood pressure may be raised, and continuous high blood pressure may result in many disorders. The digestion is certainly impaired (not only of the one who is subject to these outbursts, but of those around him!) One of the striking illustrations of how the emotions can affect the body is shown by the fact that nursing baby will have its digestion powerfully upset when its mother has had any great mental upset. This shows a chemical alteration in the mother's milk.

One who is subject to uncontrollable fits of anger and is a common scold, undoubtedly is not well, and should have a physical examination to determine the cause. Children who are around such individuals are profoundly affected physically and mentally, and perhaps permanently if it is long continued.

Yes, your ill health may be caused by your unbalanced diet. You should have your physician check you up, however, to be sure that is the only cause. Our article on Balanced Diet will help you at Chicago, where you look district presents a terrific problem. One of the women at the party ruefully contributed the tale of the time she dropped her handbag while crossing Fifth Avenue at Fifty-ninth street. ## I Have Said in My Heart

As Told to Annabell Lee. BY IDAH MCGLOONE GIBSON. FAIR PLAY.

"One of the hardest things for elderly people to do is to think straight," said Annabell Lee, rather wistfully. "They have so many obsessions, inhibitions and prejudices."

"Isn't that a human quality rather than one of age?" I asked. "It might have been until this generation, when I think more women are beginning to think for themselves than me," she answered. "I love my parents very dearly, but they are so apt to let someone else think for them. As Will Rogers says, 'They only know what they read in the paper.'"

"I laughed. I could see the faces of Mr. and Mrs. Lee when someone suggested that they always used ready-made opinions and ready-made standards, just as they bought ready-made clothes. "Dad still calls me his dear little girl, when he ought to realize that I am five foot seven and that my brain has grown accordingly. He really talks to me as though I were ten. I must not question anything he says. If I had not taken the matter into my own hands, I would have grown up perfectly helpless. Dad still has that old idea that a girl should be taken care of and protected by a father until she is handed over to her husband and then after that she would be some other woman's burden."

"I went to the wedding of a friend the other day and the minister asked: 'Who gives this woman to this man?' and the bride's uncle, a man who was lean and old, stepped to hand her over. My friend is nearly six feet tall and weighs one hundred and sixty pounds."

"The sight of that old man about five foot five, who did not weigh an ounce over one hundred and twenty-five pounds giving that beautiful young girl away was ludicrous, especially as I knew that my friend's uncle hardly knew her, but was pressed into service to complete the picture. "The picture was completed, but to one who thought straight, it was a cartoon. "I feel rather sorry for the average young man, for as girls live go now-a-days, he is usually getting a bad break even if the girl has the best intentions. She may promise to care for him in sickness and in health—but she does not know how to do it. If she is one of the protected girls, she has never been taught to 'care' for anyone, not even herself, and if she has had to earn her living, as a rule, she knows nothing about taking care of a house where a man might live comfortably."

Memo:—Wake up, girls! If you intend to marry, prepare yourself for marriage.

Living and Loving

BY MRS. VIRGINIA LEE

SYMPATHY.

I must have a lot of sympathetic readers for I never print a sad story but I have numerous letters offering sympathy and help. Under all our differences we are all so much alike—having the same joys and sorrows. The minister of a church I attended for years always seemed to know just what my particular needs were and prayed just for me. And I suppose every one of the several hundred people present felt he was voicing their peculiar needs, too.

My advice to "Disgusted," who had taken to drink because his girl had gone back on him, is echoed by a young lady who has had an experience similar to his.

"Dear Mrs. Lee: Just a few lines to Disgusted. My case was almost like his, only there wasn't any friend to come between my fiancé and myself. It was his mother. She had never met me but she did not wish her son to marry and she won out. Like him, I thought my heart was broken beyond all repair, but I had many friends, so I forced myself to go out with them and tried to enjoy myself. And I can think of him without being bothered in the least."

"Drink will never pay, and if I were Disgusted I would have too much pride to let her know she made a drunkard out of me. Work hard on your career, and if your mind is busy it will keep you from thinking of her."

NINETEEN.
I did not have room for quite all your letter, "Nineteen," and I am sorry. Your fiancé lost a fine wife and his mother a daughter-in-law she might have been proud of. Thank you for your letter.

Eighteen seems to be a critical age for the girls. So many of them want to marry against their parents' wishes at that time. "Dear Mrs. Lee: Can your parents stop you from marrying when you're 18, if the fellow has been married and is planning on getting a divorce and is saving his money to get it and he is 27 years old? His wife left him and she's been gone for five years and has been going with other men. Can he get a divorce under these conditions? I've been going with him for three months and we are very fond of one another and he's been just like a gentleman to me."

M. G.
In your state a girl may marry without her parents' consent when she is 18. I should think the man would have no trouble getting a divorce under the circumstances you mention. But be very sure before you marry him that your parents don't know him better than you.

Little Old New York

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—Panorama of New York: A street fair in 106th St., tents pitched casually in the middle of a teeming city block. . . . A man with a pushcart heaped with bananas and another itinerant salesman, this one with balloons, making bright blobs of color on a rain-swept curb. Fat women, thin leaning precariously out of windows all along the New York Central right of way. A girl with two pigtailed tied with rags, a blue calico blouse, and the kind of full green skirt you get at a costumer's, when you ask for peasant fancy dress, waiting for a train in Grand Central Station. She gets a lot of curious glances. . . . A traffic cop at Forty-fifth St. and Lexington Ave., holding up three checker cabs, one coal truck, one Rolls Royce and a milk wagon as he renews acquaintance with an old friend, driver of a mail truck. All the drivers wait patiently. Who are they to hurl insults into the crowded hour of a traffic cop?

A girl whose clothes look like Broadway pausing to wave and exchange pleasantries across a maze of construction work with a net thrower on the new Park Avenue St. widening job. . . . Two old ladies placidly devouring sandwiches on one of the commuters' benches in the lower level of Grand Central Station. . . . Three Dominican nuns swooping like white doves up Forty-second St., like characters out of something by F. Marion Crawford. . . . We were talking of New York traffic policemen the other night and all present at the gathering agreed that the average cop on Manhattan Island is a courteous and patient soul. Also that New York traffic is, on the whole, better regulated than that of most large cities in this country. Infinitely better than Boston, for instance. And of course better than Chicago, whose loop district presents a terrific problem. One of the women at the party ruefully contributed the tale of the time she dropped her handbag while crossing Fifth Avenue at Fifty-ninth street. ### OLDSMOBILE PLANT TO BUILD NEW CAR

The future addition of an entirely new and second motor car to the line sold by Oldsmobile dealers was announced today by J. J. Reuter, president and general manager of Olds Motor Works.

The present Oldsmobile Six will remain the principal line of cars manufactured by Olds Motor Works and sold through Oldsmobile dealers.

This new companion line of cars will be in a higher price class and will be larger than the present line of Oldsmobiles.

Mr. Reuter stated he was giving out the facts rather prematurely in order to counteract false reports that present line of six cylinder car would be dropped on the advent of the larger car. To the contrary Mr. Reuter stated, the major production activities will continue to be on the present Oldsmobile.

The date when this second line of cars will be produced by Olds Motor Works was not announced, though indications are that this date will be a number of months in the future.

Oldsmobiles are sold here by Grover Bales.

APPEARANCE BIG FEATURE OF PAIGE

With the same thoroughness with which they investigated the automobile industry before acquiring ownership control of Paige-Detroit Motor Car Company, the three Graham brothers have been endeavoring to ascertain what particular motor car features appeal to the greatest number of motorists.

Not content to rely solely on questionnaires and the ordinary avenues for conducting investigations of this sort, Robert C. Graham, vice president of the Paige company, has been visiting dealers in all sections of the country in an effort to learn personally the preference of the American public.

Commenting on the findings that have come to light so far, Mr. Graham said:

"There is little question but that appearance, ease of handling, and comfort, are the three factors of major consideration in the minds of most people when they buy a new motor car." They are incorporating these features in the new Paige, sold here by the Xenia Paige Company.

NASH SPRINGS ARE CAUSE FOR COMFORT

Exceptional riding comfort, a characteristic of each of the twenty-one new models recently introduced by Nash, is attributed to the new, secret process alloy steel springs developed by Nash engineers.

These springs are a departure from the usual in that they are individually designed to the weight and size of each model, offering scientific resistance to road shocks and eliminating guesswork as to their effectiveness on all types of roads.

There are actually nine different types of Nash springs in all. These types were developed for cars in nine different classifications of weight, center of gravity, etc.

The alloy steel from which they are constructed is made by a secret process which produces a metal perfectly suited for the purpose of absorbing shocks. The spring action in the new Nash cars is said to duplicate in effect the action of the highest priced shock absorbers on the market.

She said that the Dayton Council had the work in seventeen schools outside of Dayton, in Montgomery County centralized schools.

BUICK for 1928

When Buick improves upon Buick—the standard for the year is set

Buick for 1928 introduces a higher standard of beauty and luxury than the world has ever known. Buick interiors are as modish as exquisite drawing-rooms—as harmoniously colored—and as comfortable. Buick's new Fisher bodies are low-slung without any loss of head-room or road-clearance.

And so, down to the smallest detail of construction, wherever refinements could be made, Buick has made them. Again Buick has improved upon Buick. Again the standard for the year is set.

BUICK USES "S" STEEL VALVES NOW

The heat-resisting "S" steel valves which made possible the recent triumphs of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, Commander Richard E. Byrd, and the other trans-oceanic fliers are at the service of every Buick owner, for they have been standard exhaust equipment on Buick for several years. They are an unseen but highly important factor in the long-sustained performance of Buick's famous six-cylinder valve-in-head engine.

Buick became interested in the "S" steel valve, through the tests conducted by the United States Bureau of Aeronautics. The result of these tests was the adoption of the new valve by every American aircraft engine maker, and by several foreign makers. For the tests showed that this valve's use jumped the life of the aircraft engine, which during the World war averaged about five hours—to more than 50 hours.

Buick conducted exhaustive experiments with "S" steel valves, both at the factory and on the road, and as a result, adopted them for its exhaust installations. It was one of the first manufacturers to realize that the development of "S" steel was one of the really important metallurgical advances of recent years, and to give the public the benefits of that advance.

EARLY FORD BUYER STILL PICKS FORD

Wulf Bros., Ford dealers at Cheney, Kan., write: "The following article was published in our local newspaper and was commented on a great deal: Hon. John I. Saunders, of Cheney has a Ford record that is hard to beat, and we doubt can be equalled by any other man in the State of Kansas. He bought car No. 900, Model T Ford, which was one of the first three Ford cars received in Wichita. Then he drove the first Model T Ford car in Cheney and he says that he expects to drive the first Ford car of the new model that arrives in Cheney.

Then he has still another distinction. His birthday is on the same day as that of Henry Ford, that of July 29, and on that date, he will be the same age of Mr. Ford, which is 64 years.

Bryant Motor Sales, local Ford agency, will introduce the new Ford as soon as deliveries are started.

CHRYSLER RIDING EASE IS FEATURE

"One of the many features that have been the subject of widespread favorable comment since the introduction of the illustrious New Chrysler '72' to the public a few days ago is the unusual degree of riding ease enjoyed by occupants of these cars," says Don

Weaver, of Ankeny and Weaver, local agents.

Chrysler engineers explain that this enhanced passenger comfort is due in large part to an ingenious device in the form of a rubber spring mounting which they perfected for their Imperial '80' model, the quality leader of the Chrysler line, and which is incorporated in all seven body types of the new '72' model.

"Shock insulation by means of rubber spring mountings has heretofore been available only in cars of the highest luxury class and the illustrious New '72' is its pioneer in the popular price automobile field. Among all the motor car improvements in recent years, few have contributed so much to passenger pleasure as this device to deaden vibration 'sounds, absorb road shocks and eliminate noises and jars caused by contact of metal with metal."

"Chrysler engineers rate the rubber spring mounting of the '72' and the Imperial '80' as the crowning achievement in a long line of developments in vehicle suspension and shock absorption."

CHEVROLET OFFERS LANDAU FOR $745

A new low price for Chevrolet's latest and most beautiful model, Imperial Landau, which now lists at only $745 f. o. b. Flint, Mich., was announced today by R. H. Grant, vice-president in charge of sales of the Chevrolet Motor Company.

This reduction was made possible by volume production growing out of the tremendous demand on the part of the public everywhere for this "Most Beautiful Chevrolet" when it was first introduced in May of this year, Mr. Grant explained.

"Seldom has the industry seen the warm and enthusiastic public response that greeted the initial offering of the Imperial Landau, which at that time was priced at $780," Mr. Grant stated. "The output for this model far exceeded the production schedule."

"This great volume spelled manufacturing economies that the public will share in because of the lowered price effective today. In addition to making our newest model available to a wider field of prospective motorists, the reduction is further evidence of our aim to build the best possible popular priced car at the lowest cost consistent with sound merchandising principles."

Long Chevrolet Co., sells this car in Xenia.

CANDIDATES FILING PAPERS FOR SCHOOL AND TOWNSHIP JOBS

As the deadline date for filing draws near, thirty-three aspirants to places on various township boards and other township and village offices at the November election, have filed petitions of candidacy with R. E. Dunkel, clerk of the election board.

Six candidates have filed for the Bath Twp. board of education and with only two vacancies to fill, keen rivalry is in prospect. Two additional candidates are expected to file.

Petitions of candidacy may be filed until midnight on September 9.

Three vacancies occur on the city board of education and two on the Greene County school board.

Terms of H. S. LeSourd, Lewis Clark and L. A. Wagner on the city board and those of J. B. Rife and H. E. Bales on the county board expire.

Clark is the only retiring member of the city board who will probably be a candidate for reelection. No candidates have yet filed for the city board although Charles Bone has taken out papers. It is probable both Rife and Bales will again be candidates for the county board.

Interest in Xenia at the November 9 election will center in the selection of two candidates for City Commission from the four nominated at the August primary and in the city school board race.

Following nominating petitions have so far been filed:

L. B. Harner, C. T. McCormick, H. C. Sheetz, Ralph Fulton, O. W. Wilson and Fred Mumma for Bath Twp. board of education; Clarence D. Kennedy, Charles V. Mittman and Ralph Kyle for Bath Twp. trustee; Charles T. Mellon for the two offices of Bath Twp. constable and marshal of Fairfield;

Peter's Adventures

BY FLORENCE SMITH VINCENT

IRIS PLAYS A JOKE

There was nothing else for it— if Peter wanted to hear the long delayed tale of the three cousins he must stay around until Tortoise had satisfied his hunger and was ready to talk. So he decided to make the best of it. Glancing about he spied a cluster of purple iris not far away.

"I may as well make myself

"Umm! Grapes! Now, if only I can find them!" declared the boy comfortably, thought the boy. "Guess I'll go over and sit in the shade of the blossoms."

With Peter, making up his mind to and doing were almost the same thing—so it wasn't long before he had settled himself comfortably against a green stalk. Suddenly he noticed a peculiar smell that seemed familiar. He sniffed once or twice.

"Umm! Grapes! Now, if only I can find them, I, too, shall have a feast," declared the boy. At his words the blossoms swayed toward each other and seemed to be whispering together. Suddenly something seemed to be wrong with the stalk against which he leaned. He could feel it quivering. Then he heard a faint voice speaking. He had to strain his ears to listen, and it seemed to him the voice was much amused about something.

"Oh, dear me! How funny! Sisters, once more we have played our joke and fooled a Human! Little Two-Legs, resting beneath our shade, says he smells grapes! If only he knew what it really is!"

"Well, what is it?" demanded Peter, upon hearing this. And he spoke so loudly that again the stalk quivered, but this time with fright. At Peter's feet fell a petal. "Now see the harm you've done, Two-Legs!" whispered the faint voice. "You have frightened sister into losing one of her pretty scarfs. You ought to be ashamed of yourself."

"Don't scold him, my dear. I am sure he didn't mean it," sighed a second voice. "It wasn't fastened on tightly anyhow, you know. The least breath of wind might have sent it falling."

"I certainly didn't mean to do anything to harm you, dear blossoms. I am sorry I spoke so loudly. Please forgive me," Peter was penitent.

The iris swayed gently to and fro.

"Spoken like a true friend," declared the slower voice. "We will forgive you, boy, and to prove it will tell you the joke. That odor you smell is not grapes at all, but just the sweet perfume that we scatter upon the air. I hope you like it! We do. In fact, we are proud of our scent and our color."

HOLIDAY AUTO RACE PROGRAM EXPECTED TO ATTRACT CROWDS

Plans are being perfected for the automobile races at the Greene County Fairgrounds Labor Day afternoon. The racing will start at 2 o'clock.

A number of local dealers are expected to enter stock cars stripped down for racing in the event. The racing will be held on the Greene County cars and drivers.

This event is expected to be of unusual interest because it will enable local dealers to settle friendly arguments over the comparative merits of the different makes sold locally. Several of the dealers may drive their own cars and a special cup will be awarded to the winner of the event.

This race is only one of the five events scheduled, which will draw a number of professional dirt track racers to Xenia on the holiday.

Several local drivers may also participate in the other events for amateurs.

One special race is for Ohio and Pennsylvania drivers, another for professional dirt track performers and a third an inter-county race between Greene County drivers and those from surrounding counties.

Oliver Belden, secretary of the Auto Club, has been named judge of the racing, and Guy Wade, promoter, will act as official starter. Waldo Beeler has been selected as associate judge.

Following Xenians have been chosen to act as checkers and time-keepers as the laps are completed by the entrants in the various races.

After winning four games out of five following their advent into the Triangle League, Bellbrook met their Waterloo at Wilmington last Sunday when they were completely overthrown by the Quakers in a ragged lopsided game in which errors in large numbers by the visitors and hard hitting by the homers played important parts. The absence of McMichael to the mound proved disastrous to the visitors who had been led to victory through his superb pitching on many occasions. The new pitcher for the homers was there with the goods and held the visitors down to a meek throughout the game. Cramer Crowl, the youngest member of the Bellbrook team, proved the star batter of the day, making a record of three hits. Hess, also of the winners made a clean three base hit scoring one run. The sensation of the game came in the second inning when Goal John duplicated Ty Cobb's famous stunt and scored from first base on a sacrifice hit down the third base line. The score of 14 to 3 in favor of Wilmington was acquired through poor pitching, bad fielding and insufficient batting by the visitors.

At present Bellbrook stands third in the list with more than an even chance of landing in second after the two remaining games of the season shall have been played. They will go to Jamestown next Sunday where a good game is expected with the team at that place.

BELIEVE PARALYSIS EPIDEMIC PAST PEAK

HEALTH CHIEF SAYS GRADUAL DECREASE NOTED IN DISEASE

Think Cool Weather Will Help Fight—Conference Held

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 3.—Belief that Ohio's epidemic of infantile paralysis has passed its "peak" and is now subsiding was voiced today by Dr. C. P. Robbins, chief of the division of communicable diseases, state health department.

Dr. Robbins, who has been directing the statewide campaign seeking to control the ravages of this dread disease, expressed the opinion that the present epidemic in the Buckeye state has been gradually decreasing since August 29.

Additional hope that this epidemic may disappear from Ohio within the next few weeks is found in the declaration of Dr. Wade H. Frost, of the U. S. Public Health Bureau, Washington, D. C., that a study of the history of infantile paralysis epidemics discloses that 80 per cent of the cases occur between June and October and that the epidemics disappear when cold weather arrives.

Decision to leave the question of postponing the opening of public schools to the discretion of local health and school boards was reached at a conference held at the offices of Dr. John E. Monger, state health director, here late Friday.

Conferees included Drs. Monger, Robbins and Frost and county health commissioners, and school physicians from about forty counties throughout the state in which cases of infantile paralysis either have been reported or are expected to develop.

Announcement was made today that Dr. Monger expects to call a conference soon of physicians who are experts in the treatment of children's diseases, and surgeons, who have had wide experience in performing surgical operations on deformed and crippled children.

The purpose of the proposed conference, it was announced, is to formulate a standardized method of "after-treatment" for children who recover from the serious phase of infantile paralysis, but are left crippled, or deformed, in some form.

Dr. Robbins today expressed belief that the opening of the public schools will be postponed at least two weeks in all districts where the infantile paralysis epidemic is severe. In districts where there are a few cases, he said, will call upon local physicians to volunteer in the work of inspecting the children.

No restrictions will be placed upon children in districts where no cases of infantile paralysis have been noted, Dr. Robbins stated.

Overriding the recommendation of Dr. H. M. Platter, local school physician, that the Columbus public schools be opened on schedule time, next Tuesday, the Columbus Board of Education late Friday unanimously voted to postpone opening of the schools here until September 19, thus giving the children an additional two weeks' vacation.

Platter expressed belief that danger of contagion is less when the children are in school than when playing in public places. The school board contended that the act of postponing the opening of the schools here constituted "an abundance of caution against the spread of infantile paralysis."

BRAZIL UNABLE TO LOCATE REDFERN

RIO DE JANEIRO, Sept. 3.—Efforts of government authorities to find some trace of Paul Redfern, missing Georgia-to-Brazil solo flyer, have so far failed.

Claims World Flyer

Declaring that she married William S. Brock, world flight aviator, at Martinsville, Ill., in 1916, Mrs. Corinne Smithe Brock, of Dayton, O., above, claims that although she has been separated from the flyer six years she does not know of any divorce proceedings. Since the world flight began she says she learned of Brock's marriage in Chicago in 1926. Mrs. William S. Brock, of Detroit, has declared in a phone call to the Mrs. Brock at Dayton, that she knows nothing of any first marriage or divorce by Brock.

IDENTIFY CROSSING VICTIM AS FOREST LUG, CLARK COUNTY

Brother Completes Identification—Funeral Sunday

Identification of the younger of two men killed when their auto was wrecked by east-bound Baltimore and Ohio passenger train No. 67 at the Cottonville Road crossing at the edge of Jamestown Friday morning, as Forest Lug, 30, was completed Friday night.

The identification was established by a brother, Harry Lug, North Hampton, Clark County, who came to Jamestown with a brother-in-law and viewed the body at the P. E. Burr undertaking establishment.

Lug was said to have lived with Sanford Sparrow, 68, R. R. No. 8, Springfield, the second man killed in the crash, and the two had been engaged in business together.

Lug was single and his parents are dead. He is survived by two brothers, one of whom lives in Detroit, and two sisters, one at present a patient in a Springfield hospital. The brother living in Detroit had intended to come to North Hampton, Labor Day, to spend the holiday with his brother, Harry, and he is expected to arrive in time to attend funeral services.

Funeral services for Lug have been set for Sunday at 2 o'clock at the Burr funeral parlors, with interment in Clinton Cemetery. Harry Lug expected to return to Jamestown Saturday to complete the arrangements.

Lug's identity could not be established Friday until a number of hours after the accident. Partial identification was made earlier in the day by Forest Gordon, James-town, who, after viewing the body as being named Forest Lug, of whom he had purchased a Ford roadster and who had promised to deliver the car Friday morning, but did not appear.

It developed later Friday that the machine in which the two men were riding, was a Ford roadster instead of a touring car, although the license number had been issued for a Ford touring car. The machine was so badly wrecked, it could not be determined for a time whether it was a roadster or touring car.

"WE" TAKE AIR

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Sept. 3.—The famous "we" took off from the air mail field here today bound for Salt Lake City, Utah, where Col. Chas. A. Lindbergh and his "Spirit of St. Louis" are scheduled to arrive at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

WEATHER THREATENS. CARIBOU, ME., Sept. 3.—Unsettled weather conditions today threatened to delay the start of Capt. Terry Tully and Lieut. James Metcalf on their interrupted flight from London, Ontario, to London, England.

ST. RAPHAEL PLANE SIGHTED WEDNESDAY

SHIP APPARENTLY KEPT ON SCHEDULE FOR PART OF TRIP

Three Flyers Placed
Among Missing Of
Ocean Pilots

OTTAWA, Ont., Sept. 3.—The airplane St. Raphael and its three daring occupants, dropped today into the limbo of the missing.

Despite reports from two trans-Atlantic vessels that the light of an airplane had been sighted overhead far out at sea Wednesday night, no further word came today which might definitely indicate the fate of Captain Leslie Hamilton, Lieut. Col. F. F. Minchin and the Princess Lowenstein-Wertheim, who left Upavon, England, early Wednesday morning in an attempt to fly across the ocean.

If the reports that a plane's beacon was seen are authentic, it would appear that the St. Raphael kept to schedule during the first half of its flight across the ocean, then flew far off its course. What is believed to have been the last trace of the missing plane was seen from the coast of New York City. A point far away from the course the aviators intended to fly to Ottawa.

Canadian officials searching for the plane have been informed by the British air ministry that a light was seen midway across the Atlantic on Wednesday night by the German-American oil tanker Josiah Macy. The spot where the glow was seen in the sky was in latitude 53.15 and longitude 29.45, indicating that the St. Raphael had safely negotiated the first half of its trip across the Atlantic. Word of sighting the plane's light was contained in a wireless message picked up from the Josiah Macy by the Irish Broadcasting Company.

The other message from Halifax, stated that a Dutch steamship had sighted the light of a plane at 6 a. m. G. M. T. Wednesday (1 a. m. New York Daylight Time) at latitude 39.28 north and longitude 64.3 west, a point 420 miles southeast of New York City, and far off the plane's course.

Meanwhile, with hopes of the flyers being found alive decreasing hourly, every agency at the command of Canada, was being pressed in the search for the flyers. All through the night, radio stations throughout the dominion hummed with broadcasts seeking to pick up some word of the princess and her two companions, but without success.

The hope still persists that the flyers may have been able to make a safe landing in some isolated spot in Canada or Newfoundland, and that their emergency rations will keep them alive for several days. Or, on the other hand, if the flyers were forced to descend at sea, the hope is held out that the collapsible rubber lifeboat carried by the flyers will keep them afloat until rescued by some ship.

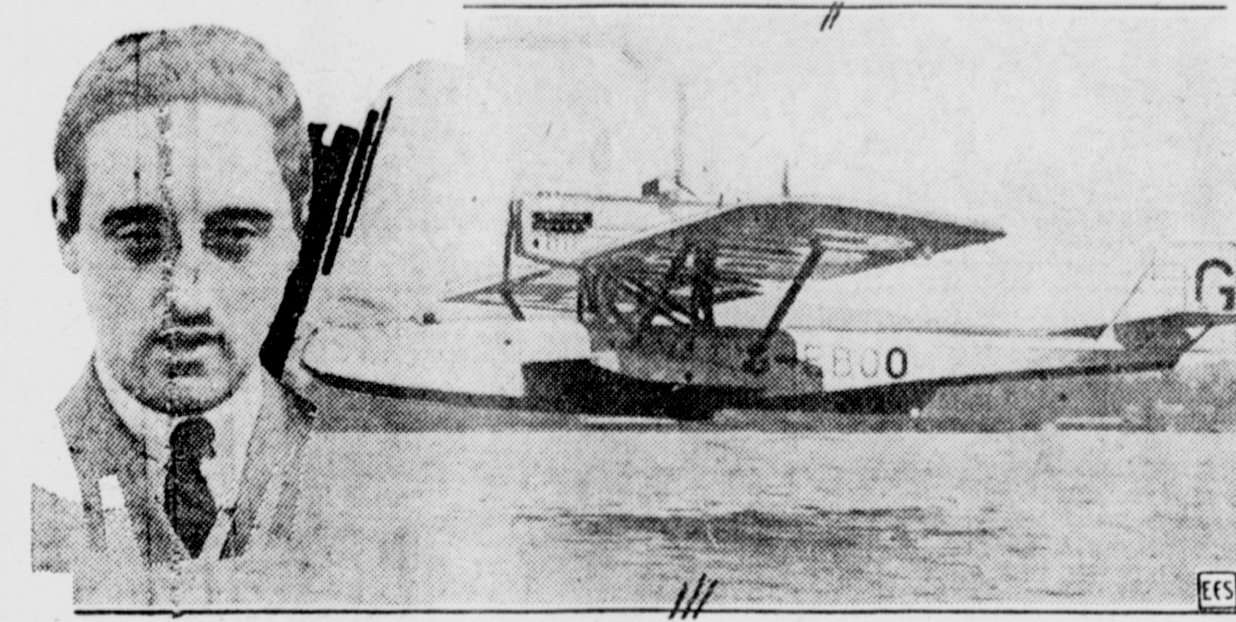

Mrs. Hamilton, wife of the St. Raphael's pilot, has not given up hope for the safety of her husband and his two companions. She made the following statement to International News Service:

"I still have the highest hope. There is really so little one can say when everybody brings such gloomy messages, yet I am sure that Leslie will be found. I have done nothing but wait since early Thursday, and it is hard for me to see things properly."

"But I am just bucking my knowledge of Leslie's ability and Col. Minchin's record against tremendous odds. I know what these men are like when they are in a tight corner, and it is that which makes me so confident."

"I realize that the odds are tremendous. It would probably be easier if they were flying a seaplane rather than a land machine, but somehow I feel that they will be found on this side or will be picked up by a ship. In the meantime, while waiting for news, I am steadfastly confident that somehow, somewhere, Leslie will be found. It will take me the longest time in the world."

ARREST THREE SUSPECTS AFTER PRISONERS ATTEMPT ESCAPE

Guard Slain When Convicts At Brick Plant Attempt
Escape From Office Of Dentist—One
Prisoner Wounded

NEW LEXINGTON, O., Sept. 3.—Two women and three men, suspected of being accomplices in the attempted escape of two penitentiary prisoners Thursday are under arrest here today, and will be charged with first degree murder, according to County Prosecutor Dugan.

The slain man is Grant Weakley, a guard who was shot without warning as Fred Kellogg, Toledo, and Pat Riley, Cincinnati, dashed to short-lived liberty.

Those under arrest here registered as Mrs. Ida Jean Kellogg, Detroit, wife of Fred Kellogg; George Zens, Detroit; Beaumont Sowers, Cincinnati, and Mr. and Mrs. James Waters, Newark.

The five were arrested last night by sheriff's deputies after an automobile race in which Sheriff McNabb forced the fugitives' car into a ditch near Newark.

Kellogg was shot three times before his capture and is reported in a serious condition. Riley was captured a mile from the scene of the shooting. All of the convicts have been returned to the penitentiary at Columbus.

Guard Weakley was killed while the four convicts were receiving dental treatment in a physician's office here. Kellogg and Riley, it is thought, obtained guns which had been "planted" in the dentist's office, and shot Weakley as he reached for his weapon. Two of the men captured Thursday night, it is thought, hid the guns in the dentist's office, while Mrs. Kellogg and a woman companion visited Kellogg at the Junction City brick plant branch of the penitentiary and informed her husband of the cache.

After Weakley fell, Kellogg and Riley ran into the street firing wildly. Kellogg was dropped soon after by a second deputy guard, while Riley was taken some distance away.

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 3.—P. E. Thomas, warden of the Ohio State Penitentiary here, today announced that Pat Riley, had signed a complete confession detailing the events of his and Fred Kellogg's attempted escape and the killing of Guard Grant Weakley.

The confession, it is said, declares that the guns were hidden

ROUND WORLD FLYERS TAKE OFF FROM BAGDAD FOR PERSIAN STOP

BAGDAD, Sept. 3.—The round-the-world fliers, Edward M. Schlee and William S. Brock, hopped off here at 7 o'clock this morning for Bender Abbas, Persia, on the fifth lap of the epoch-making flight.

Schlee and Brock arrived here at 9:30 last night from Constantinople, where they had been detained twenty-four hours by difficulty in obtaining passports and permission to fly over Turkish territory.

Bender Abbas is eighty-eight miles from here. Despite the twenty-four hour delay, Brock and Schlee are well in advance of previous speed attempts to encircle the globe.

The flight from Constantinople to Bagdad required fourteen hours. A report was received here that the Pride of Detroit flew over Basra at 10 o'clock. Basra is in the Tigris valley, sixty miles from the Persian Gulf.

"PROXY BRIDE" IS ADMITTED TO U. S.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—Senorita Flora Sariego, Spanish "proxy bride" of Max Muniz, of Martins Ferry, O., is to be admitted to the United States, government authorities decided today. She was held at Ellis Island for possible deportation.

Immigration officials said she could be admitted as a non-quota immigrant if the state department was willing to place her on its list. The state department agreed, and the senator will be permitted to join her proxy husband.

Senorita Sariego, the bride, arrived at Ellis Island yesterday with a permit to enter the country as the wife of Muniz, but investigation developed that she wedded Muniz in Spain only "by proxy."

Muniz's father taking his son's place at the altar, Muniz who has a home and "money in the bank" at Martins Ferry was in this country at the time of the "wedding," which was held for the purpose of securing entrance papers for the bride.

MILLIONAIRE BUYS PASSAGE ON PLANE ON WESTWARD JUMP

British Flyer And Companions Expect To Stop At Azores—Will Test Feasibility Of Trans-Atlantic Passenger Service.

PLYMOUTH, England, Sept. 3.—With a mysterious millionaire Canadian as a passenger, Captain Frank J. Courtney hopped off from here at 6:26 o'clock this morning in his Dornier-Napier biplane "Whale" in a new attempt to conquer the Atlantic ocean by air.

Besides the mysterious passenger, whose identity was not disclosed and who was reported to have paid $7,500 for the privilege of making the flight, Courtney was accompanied by R. J. Little, engineer and F. W. Downer, navigator.

It was reported here today that Courtney's mysterious passenger is E. B. Hosmer, of the Bank of Montreal, Canada.

The amphibian plane, heavily loaded with 750 gallons of gasoline, made a perfect takeoff. In less than two minutes after the moors of the giant land and water plane had begun to roar, the three intrepid aviators and their wealthy passenger were out of sight.

Before starting, Courtney was somewhat undecided as to his exact route. He anticipated, however, in a circle, and rose from the water after passing Ireland he would take the southern route, possibly stopping at the Azores to refuel his plane, and then proceeding to St. John's, Newfoundland, for another stop before starting the final lap to New York.

Before starting, Courtney turned to the little group which had gathered to see him off and said: "I am full of optimism. I am sure we'll do the job." It was thought probable here that Courtney would stop at Horta, the Azores, to refuel his plane.

Captain Courtney brought his plane here yesterday from the Calshot aerodrome, where his start had been deferred six times by adverse weather conditions or trouble with his plane.

Only a few persons besides army mechanics witnessed the start of the hazardous adventure. Mrs. Courtney accompanied her husband in a launch to the spot where the "Whale" was moored, and kissed him good-bye as he stepped into the cockpit.

Courtney's early start came as a surprise, as it was expected he intended to wait until later in the day before taking off. The flier arrived at the naval air base at 6 o'clock, and finding the weather in every way favorable, decided to start. The tanks of the great plane were filled with gasoline late last night, and the necessary supplies stowed aboard. Courtney carried the regulation emergency rations, as well as a supply of chocolate.

Captain Courtney's start follows by seventy-two hours the ill-fated attempt of Princess Lowenstein-Wertheim, Captain Leslie Hamilton and Lieut. Col. F. F. Minchin to cross the ocean from England to America by air. The three fliers, who left Upavon, England, early Wednesday morning in an attempt to be the first to make the trans-Atlantic flight from east to west, apparently have been lost, for no word has been heard from them since they passed over Galway, Ireland, on the way to sea Wednesday morning.

Captain Courtney, a member of the British Royal air force, is one of England's best known fliers. He served with distinction in the World War and was one of the first Englishmen to prepare for a trans-Atlantic flight since the achievement of Charles A. Lindbergh awakened the world to the possibilities of trans-oceanic flying.

Courtney has been most emphatic, all during his long weeks of preparation, that his is not a pioneer flight, but an attempt to pioneer all ocean transportation by means of the flying boat. His plane, equally at home in the air, on land or water, is the same type as that used by Ralod Amundsen in his Arctic expeditions last year. It is equipped with all known safety devices, including both sending and receiving wireless sets. Necessary adjustments to these devices were largely to blame for the many postponements of the flight.

The original plan had been to fly from Valentia, Ireland, to Newfoundland, but Courtney indicated before the start that although he would pass over Ireland, he might choose the southern route and head toward the Azores.

Captain Courtney has described his flight as a scientific attempt to prove the feasibility of regular airplane service across the ocean. He expects to receive constant weather reports from official weather bureaus in England and America and trans-Atlantic steamships, and every effort has been made to equip the plane so it would have a maximum of safety on its flight.

According to the original plans, Courtney will stay but a brief time in New York, returning to England by air as soon as the plane can be put into condition and the necessary load of gasoline placed aboard. One purpose of the flight is to establish a tentative commercial airplane route between England and America.

If the plans are carried out, and good fortune accompanies the flier on the trip, the total flight will be more than 7,000 miles.

SIX REFORMATORY PRISONERS ESCAPE

CHILLICOTHE, O., Sept. 3.—Six prisoners at the United States reformatory, here, walked away from the institution Friday night, according to notices wired to state and national authorities by Warden McDonald.

The men, according to McDonald, slipped between sentries about nine o'clock. There is no wall about the institution.

GOD TESTIMONY:—I will say of the Lord, He is my refuge and my fortress: my God; in Him will I trust. Psalm 91:2.

JUDGE GARY'S ADVICE

The advice of Judge Gary to members of his family in entrusting to them his fortune, is good advice for everybody. He said, in essence:

"Do not sign notes or make personal loans; do not live beyond your means; ignore glib talk and look for good security; if in doubt trust your judgment rather than another's advice."

This plain, homely admonition recalls the sage counsels of Poor Richard, which have never been bettered. Few masters of American industry have exemplified this preachment as did Judge Gary. His words express the simplicity and sturdiness of his character. They are the most precious bequest of his last will and testament.

In a speech a few years ago Gary said:

"Ignorance breeds crime, cruelty, dishonesty, disease and poverty. It results in suffering, decay, destruction and obliteration. Everything that is done or said in favor of better and still better education is a step toward God and country and humanity. . . . The nation that is best educated will be safest."

Here is a condensation of the experience of a long and remarkable life. To walk humbly, to live sanely, to promote the general enlightenment, was his simple formula for the individual and the nation.

WAITING TO BE SEEN

Two years ago Fort Erie, on the Canadian side of the Niagara frontier, was a sleepy little hamlet. Then some patriots on both sides of the river conceived the idea of bridging the Niagara river at Fort Erie to "commemorate the hundred years of peace between Canada and the United States."

Before the bridge was completed and dedicated by the Prince of Wales and Vice President Daws, Fort Erie had grown to a bustling town and the center of a vast new suburban territory which eventually will consolidate to make the "City of Fort Erie."

The moral is not for real estate promoters alone.

For Erie and the farm lands surrounding it have always been there. What it is now it could have been years ago. The opportunity waited years for somebody to grasp it.

Every community in the United States has a "Fort Erie" and perhaps several of them. There are many of them right here waiting for someone with foresight and enterprise to recognize them.

While this city has some great industrial and business establishments there are opportunities here for still others. These splendid possibilities await those who can see them and have the genius to prosecute them to success. There are factories and stores and professional enterprises, drifting along year after year, with tremendous opportunities but no one in their organizations with the one necessary "great idea" the spark that is needed to set it off.

Trifles may make perfection, but trifling does not.

The kings can do no wrong. The dictators want let them.

The Way of the World

SOMETHING WRONG

There are more things wrong with our so-called civilization than we know how to fix. A West Virginia tourist confesses she killed her baby because she "didn't have the money to provide for her." There are places where she could have found help but she didn't know about them. Here the two great curses of mankind—poverty and ignorance—were combined.

BIG FIGURES

Science forces us to think in big figures. A searchlight, shown at the University of Virginia, has a beam of 1,385,000,000 candle power. An observer on Mars, with a powerful telescope, would know when this light was turned on. It will blister the skin 1,000 feet away. It will be used for tests to show the speed of light.

Fortunately for the rest of us there are men capable of dealing in big figures not attached to dollar marks.

EDISON CHEERS MILLIONS

The great money givers are not alone those who bring pleasure to folks. Edison celebrates the fiftieth anniversary of his invention of the phonograph. Think of the millions he has cheered by this invention. Too bad the jazz makers of late have made such bad use of it. That is not Edison's fault.

THE SILVER LINING

I've turned some troubles inside out.
With every benefit of doubt.
But blest, from aught that I could see,
If they looked silver-lined to me!

Some roads have ended with a wall.
With no way out, or on, or at all.
While some peculiar paths I've found
Just kept on going 'round and 'round!

A real determined optimist
On silver linings will insist
It may be there—they guarantee it—
But it takes rosy "specs" to see it!

It's far more bother than it's worth
To drag a silver cloud to earth.
To veil a trouble and to grace it
It's more courageous just to face it!

MENU HINT

Use fresh fruits and vegetables as much as possible in your menus. While it is thought that the healthful vitamins are not lost in the cooking process in most of these products, it is generally admitted that they are best eaten raw.

Fresh berries and fruit may be added to various milk puddings. In the menu following the tapioca could be served with any of the fresh berries in season, oranges, bananas, etc., as well as with peaches. I am enclosing a brau coqui recipe with today's recipes.

Green Beans Boiled with Bacon
Potatoes Boiled with Beans
Hot Buttered Beets
Whole Wheat Bread
Peach Tapioca

TODAY'S RECIPES

Peach Tapioca—Scald a quart of milk in double boiler. Add half cup minute tapioca, same amount of sugar, one-fourth teaspoon salt, and cook fifteen minutes, stirring frequently. Pour small amount slowly over two slightly-beaten egg yolks, stirring vigorously. Return to boiler and cook until thick as custard. Remove. Add flavoring to taste. Fold in stiffly-beaten egg whites. Chill. When cold pour over peeled, sliced and sweetened peaches.

Bran Cookies—Three-fourths cup shortening, half cup brown sugar, one cup molasses, one egg, half cup sour milk, one teaspoon cinnamon, three-fourths teaspoon salt, one teaspoon soda, one cup raisins, three-fourths teaspoon ginger, two teaspoonfuls baking powder, one and one-half cups whole wheat flour, one cup white flour, one-half cup bran.

Cream shortening and sugar. Add molasses, egg, well-beaten; sour milk and raisins, beating thoroughly. Add dry ingredients. Roll, adding white flour. Bake ten minutes in hot oven.

Caviare—This is one of the most prized relishes, and is expensive. It is the roe of sturgeon, salted, and has a strong flavor. The best caviare comes from Russia. It is marketed canned, and is served as an appetizer, ice cold, with wedges of lemon, a dish of grated onion, and toast fingers or points.

THREE-MINUTE MAYONNAISE

(Mrs. Mary Morton's Daily Tested Recipe.)

One whole egg, three tablespoons lemon juice or vinegar (or half of each), one-half teaspoon salt, one-half teaspoon mustard, one and one-half teaspoon sugar, one-eighth teaspoon paprika, one and one-half cups salad oil. Put egg, seasonings, one tablespoon of the acid and one-fourth cup of oil in a bowl and beat. Add remaining oil, one fourth cup at a time, beating vigorously. Remaining acid is added, a little at a time, during the mixing.

APPROPRIATE FUND FOR ROAD REPAIRS

County Commissioners have authorized the appropriation of $6,000 as the county's share of the estimated cost of repairing and maintaining Inter-county Highway No. 473, near Bowersville, the work to be undertaken by the state highway department.

The estimated cost of the work is $12,000, but this county will only be required to pay one-half of the expense.

It is planned to grade section E from Bowersville to the Clinton County line and maintain section D from Jamestown to Bowersville by opening ditches and adding material to the surface as it is needed.

WHY NO ACCOUNT FOLKS ENJOY FUNERALS.

The only time in my life that I was ever sick in bed I was visited by a neighbor who irritated me almost beyond polite endurance. He kept telling me how sorry he was for me, and how well he was feeling.

The longer he talked the more he had to say about his own excellent health.

Though he didn't realize exactly why, he got much unconscious pleasure from seeing somebody confined to bed, because it gave him a comfortable sense of superiority.

The chances are that many well-meaning persons who persistently call and annoy the bedridden get more pleasure out of such attentions than they would be willing to admit.

I wonder if there isn't a similar explanation for the mania some folks have for attending funerals. Don't they enjoy a funeral because of their unconscious feeling of superiority to the corpse?

I once heard a smart business man say: "If you are called upon to take an executive position with a badly demoralized organization, and quick action is necessary, say charge every dissatisfied employee and you will get rid of 75 per cent of the incompetents and 90 per cent of the trouble-makers. Every employee who is dissatisfied is not necessarily an incompetent or trouble-maker, but nearly every incompetent or trouble-maker is dissatisfied."

A statistical study shows that $3 out of every 100 men in this country have an income of less than $2,000 a year. Those who earn $10,000 a year are so rare as to be almost supermen—about one-tenth of one per cent.

However, $2,000 a year isn't so bad if one doesn't live in a large city where he is compelled to pay a big rent for the luxury of living near many other people. In a small place, $2,000 a year may bring every reasonable comfort.

But how many who earn $10,000 in a great city could earn even $2,000 in a village?

Somehow, it appears that one must come nearer to delivering value in a small place than in a big one.

Cities are centers of many useless activities. Every year I notice an increase in the number of persons in cities who prosper by working at something unnecessary.

Think of all the liveried apartment-house door men, eyebrow pluckers and their assistants, washroom brush boys—to say nothing of high-salaried publicity agents, assistant vice presidents, and such. What chance would any of these have in a little village or on a farm?

The Theater

An effort to enjoin "Revelry," drama now appearing at the Garrick Theater, Philadelphia, failed Friday when the court refused the application of Bernard R. Cohen, attorney, who charged the play "flaunts and ridicules the federal government."

A hearing on his action to close the play will be held Tuesday. "Revelry" is based on the novel by Samuel Hopkins Adams which created so much comment a few months ago because it pictured graft and dissipation in national affairs at Washington and was supposed to be drawn as a parallel of a recent administration.

The story was adapted for the stage by Maurine Watkins, the young author of "Chicago," another play that caused considerable comment last winter.

Amelia Bingham, 58, a star of the American melodramatic stage at the turn of the century, died at her home in New York Thursday evening following eight months' invalidism. She was born at Hicksville, Ohio, and educated at Ohio Wesleyan University, Delaware. Mrs. Bingham was the widow of Lloyd M. Bingham, with whom she claimed to have been communicating recently through spiritualistic mediums. She was writing her memoirs at the time of her death.

A sad, young-old man has appeared again in Hollywood. He is Charles Spencer Chaplin, one-time uproariously funny clown, now quiet, retiring, silent. Hollywood was startled at the change in Chaplin, evidently resulting from the litigation over domestic difficulties with his wife. He returned to Hollywood to finish "The Circus," interrupted by the court proceedings.

Ruth Lee Taylor, a twenty-year-old comedienne, has been chosen for the lead in the screen version of "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes," the story of Anita Loos, who, by the way got her first fame as a screenwriter in Hollywood. Miss Taylor was selected for the part after much searching. She is a native of Grand Rapids, Mich., but was educated in Portland, Ore., from where she came to the land of the cinema.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.

Spider Bites

Mrs. N.—To treat the bite of a poisonous spider or the sting of a scorpion, Dr. Costa advises tying a ligature above the bitten point, make a cross incision over the bite to favor bleeding, and paint the wound with pure carbolic acid or some other strong antiseptic. (The ligature should be loosened slowly after the symptoms have disappeared.) Naturally this is a physician's work, but if you were in a position where you could not get a physician, you might have to make a little try at it yourself. Sterilize a knife by passing it through a flame three or four times.

Your experience is having a paralysis of the arm and leg after a painful bite from some insect has been a very poisonous one. There is a suspicion that "infantile" Paralysis may be transmitted at times by some insect, but the paralysis doesn't usually appear so suddenly. At your age (68) there is the possibility that you had a slight apoplectic stroke which may not have been caused by the bite but may have come at the same time.

Yes, people do fully recover from slight apoplectic strokes. (I read that Pasteur had a stroke 25 years before he died.)

I suggest you go to a doctor who specializes in physiotherapy methods, and have massage, electrotherapy and other physical measures used on your arm and leg.

Hairy Legs
In these days of thin, light hose, I can appreciate your distress, B., at having so much dark hair on your legs.

There is no reason why you should not use a depilatory occasionally on the legs. That would be better than the shaving. Of course, the only real cure for superfluous hair is the electric needle.

Most of the standard depilatories on the market are dependable. Epilating wax is the most satisfactory method of hair removal. If you can't have the electric needle.

We have an article on the subject which gives a formula for an epilating wax recommended by Pusey, one of the leading skin specialists. Send a fully self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request.

Strong Emotions
"I have heard the statement that the strong emotions—anger, fear, worry, etc., have an effect on the system. Will you tell me how continual anger, scolding, etc., will affect the health?"

Most certainly strong emotions profoundly affect the mental and physical life of the individual. M. Strong emotions stimulate the nervous system which controls the internal organs including the ductless glands with their powerful chemical secretions. The blood pressure may be raised, and constriction of the blood vessels may result in many disorders. The digestion is certainly impaired (not only of the one who is subject to these outbursts, but of those around him!) One of the striking illustrations of how the emotions can affect the body is shown by the fact that nursing baby will have its digestion powerfully upset when its mother has had any great mental upset. This shows a chemical alteration in the mother's milk.

One who is subject to uncontrollable fits of anger and is a constant source of worry and anxiety should have a physical examination to determine the cause. Children who are around such individuals are profoundly affected physically and mentally, and perhaps permanently if it is long continued.

B. Yes, your ill health may be caused by your unbalanced diet. You should have your physician check you up, however, to be sure that is the only cause. Our article on Balanced Diet will help you also. (Don't forget the self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request.)

I Have Said in My Heart

As Told to Annabell Lee.
BY IDA H. MCGLOE GIBSON.
FAIR PLAY.

"One of the hardest things for elderly people to do is to think straight," said Annabell Lee, er wistfully. "They have so many obsessions, inhibitions and prejudices."

"Isn't that a human quality rather than one of age?" asked. "It might have been until this generation, when I think more women are beginning to think for themselves than me," she said. "I love my parents very dearly, but they are so apt to let someone else think for them. As Will Rogers says, 'They only know what they read in the paper.'"

I laughed. I could see the faces of Mr. and Mrs. Lee when someone suggested that they always used ready-made opinions and ready-made standards, just as they bought ready-made clothes. "Dad still calls me his dear little girl, when he ought to realize that I am five foot seven, seven months and a half old, and I have grown accordingly. He really talks to me as though I were ten. I must not question anything he says. If I had not taken the matter into my own hands, I would have grown up perfectly helpless. Dad still has that old idea that a girl should be taken care of and protected by a father until she is handed over to her husband and then after that she would be some other white man's burden.

"I went to the wedding of a girl friend the other day and the minister asked: 'Who gives this woman to this man?' and the bride's uncle, a man who was lean and old, stepped to hand her over. My friend is nearly six feet tall and weighs one hundred and sixty pounds.

"The sight of that old man about five foot five, who did not weigh an ounce over one hundred and twenty-five pounds giving that beautiful young girl away was ludicrous, especially as I knew that my friend's uncle had served to complete the picture.

"The picture was completed, but to one who thought straight, it was a cartoon. "I feel rather sorry for the average young man, for as girls live go now, days, he is usually getting a bad break even if the girl has the best intentions. She may promise to care for him in sickness and in health—but she does not know how to do it. If she is one of the protected girls, she has never been taught to 'care' for anyone, not even herself. If she has her mother's living, as a rule, she knows nothing about taking care of a house where a man might live comfortably."

Memo:—Wake up, girls! If you intend to marry, prepare yourself for marriage.

Living and Loving

BY MRS. VIRGINIA LEE

SYMPATHY.

I must have a lot of sympathetic readers for I never print a sad tale but I have numerous letters offering sympathy and help. Under all our differences we are all so much alike—having the same joys and sorrows. The minister of a church I attended for years always seemed to know just what my particular needs were and prayed just for me. And I suppose every one of the several hundred people present felt he was voicing their peculiar needs, too.

My advice to "Disgusted," who had taken to drink because his girl had gone back on him, is echoed by a young lady who has had an experience similar to his.

"Dear Mrs. Lee: Just a few lines to Disgusted. My case was almost like his, only there wasn't any friend to come between my fiancé and myself. It was his mother. She had never met me but she did not wish her son to marry and she won out. Like him, I thought my heart was broken beyond all repair, but I had many friends, so I forced myself to go out with them and tried to enjoy myself. I can think of him without being bothered in the least.

"Drink will never pay, and if I were Disgusted I would have too much pride to let her know she made a drunkard out of me. Work hard on your career, and if your mind is busy it will keep you from thinking of her.

NINETEEN.
I did not have room for quite all your letter, "Nineteen," and I am sorry. Your fiancé lost a first wife and his mother a daughter-in-law she might have been proud of. Thank you for your letter.

Eighteen seems to be a critical age for the girls. So many of them want to marry against their parents' wishes at that time.

"Dear Mrs. Lee: Can your parents stop you from marrying when you're 18, if the fellow has been married and is planning on getting a divorce and is saving his money to get it and he is 27 years old? His wife left him and she's been gone for five years and he's been going with other men. Can he get a divorce under these conditions? I've been going with him for three months and we are very fond of one another and he's been just like a gentleman to me.

In your state a girl may marry without her parents' consent when she is 18. I should think the man would have no trouble getting a divorce under the circumstances you mention. But be very sure before you marry him that your parents don't know him better than you.

Little Old New York

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—Panorama of New York: A street fair in 106th St., tents pitched casually in the middle of a teeming city block.

Cart heaped with bananas and other itinerant salesman, this one with balloons, making bright blobs of color on a rain-swept curb.

Pat women, thin women, old women, young women, leaning precariously out of windows all along the New York Central right of way.

A girl with two pigtailed tied with rags, a blue calico blouse, and the kind of full green skirt you get at a costumer's, when you ask for peasant fancy dress, waiting for a train in Grand Central Station. She gets a lot of curious glances.

A traffic cop at Forty-fifth St. and Lexington Ave., holding up three checker cabs, one coal truck, one Rolls Royce and a milk wagon as he renews acquaintance with an old friend, driver of a mail truck. All the drivers wait patiently. Who are they to hurl insults into the crowded hour of a traffic cop?

A girl whose clothes look like Broadway fashioning to wave and exchange pleasantries across a maze of construction work with a rivet thrower on the new Park Avenue St. widening job.

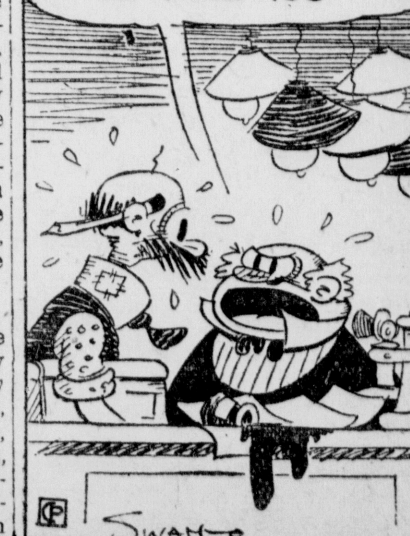

Two old ladies placidly devouring sandwiches on one of the commuters' benches in the lower level of Grand Central Station. Three Dominican guns swooping like white doves up Forty-second St., like characters out of something by F. Marion Crawford.

We were talking of New York traffic policemen the other night and all present at the gathering agreed that the average cop on Manhattan Island is a courteous and patient soul. Also that New York traffic is, on the whole, better regulated than that of most large cities in this country. Infinitely better than Boston, for instance. And of course better than Chicago, whose loop district presents a terrific problem. One of the women at the party ruefully contributed the tale of the time she dropped her handbag while crossing Fifth Avenue at Fifty-ninth street. Lipstick, memoranda, vanity box, calling cards, keys and small change went galloping gaily all over the pavement, and the officer in charge halted all business while he helped her to retrieve the stuff. He didn't even make caustic remarks about the general blunderingness of women, which must have been a sore temptation.

To get a birdseye view of the luxury in which a great many New York women are indulged, my wife says, one must make a visit, not to the theaters on gala nights, nor to the expensive courtyards, nor even to the most superb jewelers, but to any one of the various smart beauty parlors in Fifth Avenue. Here, where a facial

Tales Off The Reel

VOL. 1 SATURDAY, SEPT. 3, 1927 NO. 48

We finished taking in the large crop of yellow corn from the J. D. Steele Farms this week. The most of it was two-year old corn and was as fine a crop as we ever received. It was also the largest single crop handled by any grain plant in Greene Co., so far as we know for several years. Mr. Steele has a lot of fine land and as fine management and a help. The boys who delivered it to our plant are a fine lot of men and we wish to thank them for their co-operation.

One of our trade magazines says that an unsophisticated girl is one who asks her mother for a cookie instead of the butt of her cigarette.

Buy your coal now! You can't lose and chances are that you will win by a large margin. We are only too glad to figure with you.

We've just had an argument. How many brides in this community can quote the price of a barrel of flour? Charlie Mock says there are just as many as there are grooms who can raise the price of one. You can find out by calling us, at any rate. The first inquiry will get 25 lbs. Perfection flour free. So hurry and phone 263 R.

Jno. Nisbet says he wishes everybody would remember how to endorse a check. The right end to endorse is the left end, if you get what we mean. And yet a lot of people twist a check around in the most awkward position and write across the right end. But we like 'em, anyway, no matter which end you endorse.

We just received a shipment of Thorobred Dog Biscuits. The staff of life for every dog. We are selling quite a lot of this new food.

We are pleased to announce that we have bought the wheat, also, from the J. D. Steele farm, and will receive it this week.

PHYSICIANS VOLUNTEER HERE TO PREVENT DISEASE SPREAD

Xenia and Greene County physicians apparently anticipated wishes of the state health department when they volunteered to assign themselves to a program of inspecting school children as a means of preventing an epidemic of infantile paralysis here.

Physicians volunteered to conduct weekly inspection of all school children in the county last Wednesday and wired Dr. C. E. Robbins, chief of the division of communicable disease, asking his approval of such a course. Although an answer has not been received, Dr. Robbins Saturday broadcast an appeal to physicians to volunteer for such a service.

Dr. R. R. McClellan and Dr. T. F. Myler, resident physician at the O. S. and S. O. Home, who are members of the committee in charge of the prevention program, personally asked the assistance of every practicing physician in the county Friday. They were pleased to find that every doctor physically fit for the task readily volunteered to assist in the school inspections.

This will work a particular hardship on physicians in some sections, where there are a number of schools and several hundred pupils to be examined weekly. The inspections will take the form of observing temperatures of the children to note any abnormal condition of health. Children showing ill health symptoms will be sent home and placed under closer surveillance of a physician. City public and parochial schools and county rural and village schools are co-operating in the program of prevention. Many rural schools will open Monday while Xenia public schools will open Tuesday. St. Brigid Parochial

Rev. Samuel Blades of this city, will preach at the Cedarville Zion Baptist Church, Sunday. Rev. Harris is the pastor.

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Michaels of Dayton, are the week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. James Harris, E. Market St.

The Twentieth Century Club will meet Tuesday evening with Mrs. Ella Calaman, E. Main St.

Mrs. Hattie Williams left Friday night for Pittsburgh, where she will make her future home with her daughter, Mrs. Thelma Ragland.

OLDSMOBILE PLANT TO BUILD NEW CAR

The future addition of an entirely new and second motor car to the line sold by Oldsmobile dealers was announced today by J. J. Reuter, president and general manager of Olds Motor Works.

The present Oldsmobile Six will remain the principal line of cars manufactured by Olds Motor Works and sold through Oldsmobile dealers.

This new companion line of cars will be in a higher price class and will be larger than the present line of Oldsmobiles.

Mr. Reuter stated he was giving out the facts rather prematurely in order to counteract false reports that present line of six-cylinder car would be dropped on the advent of the larger car. To the contrary Mr. Reuter stated the major production activities will continue to be on the present Oldsmobile.

The date when this second line of cars will be produced by Olds Motor Works was not announced though indications are that this date will be a number of months in the future.

Oldsmobiles are sold here by Grover Bales.

APPEARANCE BIG FEATURE OF PAIGE

With the same thoroughness with which they investigated the automobile industry before acquiring ownership control of Paige-Detroit Motor Car Company, the two Graham brothers have been endeavoring to ascertain what particular motor car features appeal to the greatest number of motorists.

Not content to rely solely on questionnaires and the ordinary averages for conducting investigations of this sort, Robert C. Graham, vice president of the Paige company, has been visiting dealers in all sections of the country in an effort to learn personally the preference of the American public.

Commenting on the findings that have come to light so far, Mr. Graham said:

"There is little question but that appearance, ease of handling, and comfort are the three factors of major consideration in the minds of most people when they buy a new motor car." They are incorporating these features in the new Paige, sold here by the Xenia Paige Company.

NASH SPRINGS ARE CAUSE FOR COMFORT

Exceptional riding comfort, a characteristic of each of the two-tone new models recently introduced by Nash, is attributed to the new, secret process alloy steel springs developed by Nash engineers.

These springs are a departure from the usual in that they are individually designed to the weight and size of each model, offering scientific resistance to road shocks and eliminating guesswork as to their effectiveness on all types of roads.

There are actually nine different types of Nash springs in all. These types were developed for cars in nine different classifications of weight, center of gravity, etc.

The alloy steel from which they are constructed is made by a secret process which produces a metal perfectly suited for the purpose of absorbing shocks. The spring action in the new Nash cars is said to duplicate in effect the action of the highest priced shock absorbers on the market.

Xenia Motor Sales Co. sells Nash here.

Fidel at School

Books under arm and looking for a place to throw his ring gloves, Fidel La Barba, flyweight king who quit to enter school, is all set to start his studies at Stanford University.

The celebration honoring the birthday anniversaries of two of the Meierick sisters was a very enjoyable affair though not a "surprise" as had been planned.

A beautiful silver cake tray was presented to the Misses Meierick.

A bountiful dinner was served cafeteria style.

Present were: Mrs. Jennie Kable, Mrs. Ben Meierick, Mrs. Peter, Mrs. Bessie Peters, Mrs. Edna Wiers, Mrs. Bentley, Misses Bess and Etta Hawker all of Dayton; Mrs. Martin Schmidt of Xenia, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Studebaker of New Carlisle, Mr. and Mrs. Hower Cos.

Miss Carrier explained on request, the advantages of the Dayton system—that the lessons were presented from the standpoint of the child, and methods were being constantly revised to keep up with the things learned from the child's reaction, to and results of teaching. Religious education teachers must not only know the Bible but must also be well-versed in child psychology and in the art of teaching. She said that the Dayton Council had the work in seventeen schools outside of Dayton, in Montgomery County centralized schools.

The Beavercreek Twp. schools of Alpha, Benham and Zimmerman are the only one room (or two-room) schools under their direction.

Misses Mary Haverstick and Vesper Rosell have given the Sunday School very interesting and enthusiastic reports of their six day stay and lessons and etc., at the Sugar Grove Camp of the Church of the Brethren near Pleasant Hill, where a large group of young people were gathered at the annual young peoples' assembly.

Miss Mary Ferguson leaves Friday for North Manchester, Ind., to enter Manchester College. Misses Mary Coy and Geneva Hawker, sophomores will go to Manchester College, Sunday.

A special Rally Day program will be given at the church here Sunday morning, Sept. 11 at 9:30 followed by an address by Rev. J. A. Robinson of Pleasant Hill. Everyone is invited to be present.

A conference on the religious education in the schools was held at the home of Mrs. Henry M. Stewart, Aug. 18, following which those present adjourned to the home of H. C. Haverstick and Miss Mary Haverstick, where very interesting and convincing explanations of the Dayton System of Religious Education were given by Mr. J. L. Rogers, executive secretary and Miss Blanche Carrier, supervisor, to a group of the Faithful Workers' Sunday School Classes, assembled there at the regular monthly class meeting.

Mr. Rogers mentioned the higher qualifications demanded of the public school teacher at the present time, as compared with twenty-five years ago and also of the teacher of the Bible.

A special Rally Day program will be given at the church here Sunday morning, Sept. 11 at 9:30 followed by an address by Rev. J. A. Robinson of Pleasant Hill. Everyone is invited to be present.

A conference on the religious education in the schools was held at the home of Mrs. Henry M. Stewart, Aug. 18, following which those present adjourned to the home of H. C. Haverstick and Miss Mary Haverstick, where very interesting and convincing explanations of the Dayton System of Religious Education were given by Mr. J. L. Rogers, executive secretary and Miss Blanche Carrier, supervisor, to a group of the Faithful Workers' Sunday School Classes, assembled there at the regular monthly class meeting.

Mr. Rogers mentioned the higher qualifications demanded of the public school teacher at the present time, as compared with twenty-five years ago and also of the teacher of the Bible.

Miss Carrier explained on request, the advantages of the Dayton system—that the lessons were presented from the standpoint of the child, and methods were being constantly revised to keep up with the things learned from the child's reaction, to and results of teaching. Religious education teachers must not only know the Bible but must also be well-versed in child psychology and in the art of teaching. She said that the Dayton Council had the work in seventeen schools outside of Dayton, in Montgomery County centralized schools.

The Beavercreek Twp. schools of Alpha, Benham and Zimmerman are the only one room (or two-room) schools under their direction.

Misses Mary Haverstick and Vesper Rosell have given the Sunday School very interesting and enthusiastic reports of their six day stay and lessons and etc., at the Sugar Grove Camp of the Church of the Brethren near Pleasant Hill, where a large group of young people were gathered at the annual young peoples' assembly.

Miss Mary Ferguson leaves Friday for North Manchester, Ind., to enter Manchester College. Misses Mary Coy and Geneva Hawker, sophomores will go to Manchester College, Sunday.

BUICK USES "S"

STEEL VALVES NOW

The heat-resisting "S" steel valves which made possible the recent triumphs of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, Commander Richard E. Byrd, and the other trans-oceanic fliers are at the service of every Buick owner, for they have been standard exhaust equipment on Buick for several years. They are an unseen but highly important factor in the long-sustained performance of Buick's famous six-cylinder valve-in-head engine.

Buick became interested in the "S" steel valve, through the tests conducted by the United States Bureau of Aeronautics. The result of these tests was the adoption of the new valve by every American aircraft engine maker, and by several foreign makers. For the tests showed that this valve's use jumped the life of the aircraft engine, which during the World war averaged about five hours—to more than 50 hours.

Buick conducted exhaustive experiments with "S" steel valves, both at the factory and on the road, and as a result, adopted them for its exhaust installations. It was one of the first manufacturers to realize that the development of "S" steel was one of the really important metallurgical advances of recent years, and to give the public the benefits of that advance.

Xenia Garage Co. sells Buick in Xenia.

EARLY FORD BUYER STILL PICKS FORD

Wulf Bros., Ford dealers at Cheney, Kan., write: The following article was published in our local newspaper and was commented on a great deal: Hon. John I. Saunders, of Cheney has a Ford record that is hard to beat, and we doubt can be equaled by any other man in the State of Kansas. He bought car No. 900, Model T Ford, which was one of the first three Ford cars received in Wichita. Then he drove the first Model T Ford car in Cheney and he says that he expects to drive the first Ford car of the new model that arrives in Cheney.

Then he has still another distinction. His birthday is on the same day as that of Henry Ford, that of July 29, and on that date, he will be the same age of Mr. Ford, which is 64 years.

Bryant Motor Sales, local Ford agency, will introduce the new Ford as soon as deliveries are started.

CHRYSLER RIDING EASE IS FEATURE

"One of the many features that have been the subject of widespread favorable comment since the introduction of the 'Illustrated' New Chrysler '72' to the public a few days ago is the unusual degree of riding ease enjoyed by occupants of these cars," says Don

Weaver, of Ankeney and Weaver, local agents.

"Chrysler engineers explain that this enhanced passenger comfort is due in large part to an ingenious device in the form of a rubber spring mounting which they perfected for their Imperial '80' model, the quality leader of the Chrysler line, and which is incorporated in all seven body types of the new '72' model.

"Shock insulation by means of rubber spring mountings has heretofore been available only in cars of the highest luxury class and the illustrious New '72' is its pioneer in the popular price automobile field. Among all the motor car improvements in recent years, few have contributed so much to passenger pleasure as this device to deaden vibration sounds, absorb road shocks and eliminate noises and jars caused by contact of metal with metal.

"Chrysler engineers rate the rubber spring mounting of the '72' and the Imperial '80' as the crowning achievement in a long line of development in vehicle suspension and shock absorption."

CHEVROLET OFFERS LANDAU FOR $745

A new low price for Chevrolet's latest and most beautiful model, Imperial Landau, which now lists at only $745 f. o. b. Flint, Mich., was announced today by R. H. Grant, vice-president in charge of sales of the Chevrolet Motor Company.

This reduction was made possible by volume production growing out of the tremendous demand on the part of the public everywhere for this "Most Beautiful Chevrolet" when it was first introduced in May of this year, Mr. Grant explained.

"Seldom has the industry seen the warm and enthusiastic public response that greeted the initial offering of the Imperial Landau, which at that time was priced at $780," Mr. Grant stated. "The output for this model far exceeded the production schedule.

"This great volume spelled manufacturing economies that the public will share in because of the lowered price effective today. In addition to making our newest model available to a wider field of prospective motorists, the reduction is further evidence of our aim to build the best possible popular priced car at the lowest cost consistent with sound merchandising principles."

Long Chevrolet Co., sells this car in Xenia.

AUGUST SECOND COLDEST MONTH ON RECORD SINCE 1883

Average temperature during August was the lowest for that month since 1915 in which year August had the lowest temperature recorded by the U. S. weather bureau since 1883.

Temperature during August averaged 68 degrees according to the monthly summary of W. W. Neifert, Dayton observer. The average temperature in August, 1915, was 67 degrees, which is the lowest on record since 1883.

The lowest temperature last month was 49 degrees August 25, but it was nearly that cold on August 10, August 15, August 24, 27 and 28, the records show. Normal temperature for the month is 73.4 degrees, a deficiency of 5.3 degrees. Total precipitation was 1.71 inches, normal being 3.01, representing a deficiency of 1.30 and leaving an accumulated excess since January 1 of 0.11 inches.

There were nine clear days, fifteen partly cloudy, seven cloudy, eleven on which .01 or more inches of precipitation occurred. Thunderstorms were recorded August 7, 8, 18, 20 and 30.

POSTAL RECEIPTS HIGHER IN AUGUST

Receipts at the Xenia Post Office showed a gain of $541.41 in August over the corresponding month in 1926, according to the monthly financial statement prepared by Postmaster C. S. Frazer. Receipts during August, 1927, amounted to $3,853.34 in comparison with total receipts of $3,311.93 in the same month last year, the report shows.

CANDIDATES FILING PAPERS FOR SCHOOL AND TOWNSHIP JOBS

As the deadline date for filing draws near, thirty-three aspirants to places on various township boards of trustees, township school boards and other township and village offices at the November election, have filed petitions of candidacy with R. E. Dunkel, clerk of the election board.

Six candidates have filed for the Bath Twp. board of education and with only two vacancies to fill, keen rivalry is in prospect. Two additional candidates are expected to file.

Petitions of candidacy may be filed until midnight on September 9.

Three vacancies occur on the city board of education and two on the Greene County school board.

Terms of H. S. LeSourd, Lewis Clark and L. A. Wagner on the city board and those of J. B. Rife and H. E. Bales on the county board expire.

Clark is the only retiring member of the city board who will probably be a candidate for reelection. No candidates have yet filed for the city board although Charles Bone has taken out papers.

It is probable both Rife and Bales will again be candidates for the county board.

Interest in Xenia at the November election will center in the selection of two candidates for City Commission from the four nominated at the August primary and in the city school board race.

Following nominating petitions have so far been filed:

L. B. Harner, C. T. McCormick, H. C. Sheetz, Ralph Fulton, O. W. Wilson and Fred Mumma for Bath Twp. board of education; Clarence D. Kennedy, Charles V. Mittman and Ralph Kyle for Bath Twp. trustee; Charles T. Mellon for the two offices of Bath Twp. constable and marshal of Fairfield;

J. W. Panning and Dr. A. D. Ritzen for the Jamestown village school board; C. E. Greer for Beaver Creek Twp. trustee; Walter S. Stearns for Caesar Creek Twp. clerk; Homer M. Spahr and A. D. Thomas for New Jasper, trustee; E. J. Wilkins for Xenia Twp. constable; Harry Ferguson and Sylvan Shawhan for the Beaver Twp. school board;

W. C. St. John for New Jasper

Twp. justice of the peace; S. B. LeValley for New Jasper Twp. constable; Carl McKinney and James A. Tracey for Sugar Creek Twp. constable; Loren A. Rogers for Ross Twp. clerk-treasurer; S. K. Turnbull, J. LeRoy Spahr and J. H. Mossman for Ross Twp. trustee; J. E. Lewis and George Glass for Ross Twp. school board; F. E. Wilson for Caesar Creek Twp. trustee; and Harvey Myers for Cedarville village marshal.

soe of Spring Valley, a brother of the slain woman, Orbin Barnett of Waynesville, and other relatives.

Barnett with his wife, the daughter of the murdered woman, and their five children have been living under the assumed name at Crown Point, and Barnett had been employed in a Dayton factory. He will be returned to Virginia.

OPPOSE WATER STEAL TOLEDO, O., Sept. 3.—Efforts of Chicago to have a readjustment of the allowance made the metropolis in the Chicago river lake drainage controversy will meet with opposition in Toledo, shippers and resort owners have indicated. Chicago officials have announced that they will attempt to have the amount of water that may be drained from Lake Michigan increased.

ARREST ENDS TEN YEAR MURDER HUNT

A search of ten years for the slayer of his mother, Mrs. Manda Mendenhall, at Pennington Gap, Va., ended in Dayton Thursday when Charles Mendenhall, who had been making his home temporarily at Bellbrook, identified his brother-in-law, Willard Barnett, alias Oliver Fisher of Crown Point, as the murderer.

Although Barnett maintained to police that his name is Fisher and that he is not the man wanted in Lee County, Va., his identification has been completed by H. A. Blod-

FUN FOR THE WHOLE FAMILY

Peter's Adventures

BY
MRS. FLORENCE
SMITH

IRIS PLAYS A JOKE

There was nothing else for it— if Peter wanted to hear the long delayed tale of the three cousins he must stay around until Tortoise had satisfied his hunger and was ready to talk. So he decided to make the best of it. Glancing about he spied a cluster of purple iris not far away.

"I may as well make myself

"Umm! Grapes! Now if only I can find them!" declared the boy comfortably. "I thought the boy 'Guess I'll go over and sit in the shade of the blossoms.'"

With Peter, making up his mind to and doing were almost the same things—so it wasn't long before he had settled himself comfortably against a green stalk. Suddenly he noticed a peculiar smell that seemed familiar. He sniffed once or twice.

"Umm! Grapes! Now, if only I can find them! I, too, shall have a feast," declared the boy. At his words the blossoms swayed toward each other and seemed to be whispering together. Suddenly something seemed to be wrong with the stalk against which he leaned. He could feel it quivering. Then he heard a faint voice speaking. He had to strain his ears to listen, and it seemed to him the voice was much amused about something.

"Oh, dear me! How funny! Sisters, once more we have played our joke and fooled a Human! Little Two-Legs, resting beneath our shade, says he smells grapes! If only he knew what it really is!" "Well, what is it?" demanded Peter, upon hearing this. And he spoke so loudly that again the stalk quivered, but this time with fright. At Peter's feet fell a petal.

"Now see the harm you've done, Two-Legs!" whispered the faint voice. "You have frightened sister into losing one of her pretty scarfs. You ought to be ashamed of yourself."

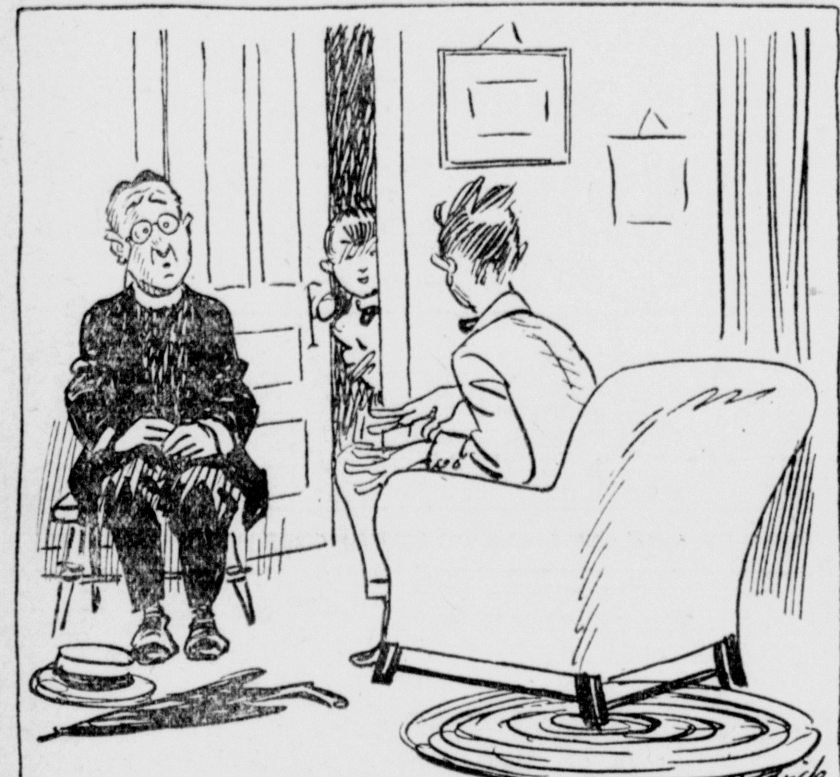

"Don't scold him, my dear. I am sure he didn't mean it," sighed a second voice. "It wasn't fastened on tightly anyhow, you know. The least breath of wind might have sent it falling."

"I certainly didn't mean to do anything to harm you, dear blossoms. I am sorry I spoke so loudly. Please forgive me," Peter was penitent.

The iris swayed gently to and fro. "Spoken like a true friend," declared the slower voice. "We will forgive you, boy, and to prove it will tell you the joke. That odor you smell is not grapes at all, but just the sweet perfume that we scatter upon the air. I hope you like it! We do. In fact, we are proud of our scent and our color."

Next—"A Clean Job of It."

The machine had been parked too near the rails. The physician was inside the building at the time and was attracted by the girl's screams. He rushed outside as the train bore down on the car and pulled the girl out to safety, shortly before the locomotive struck the auto.
